

Workers asked to help reverse steel decline

By NANCY WEIL of the Press-Record

Many salaried and hourly-paid employees of Granite City Steel seemed to share the opinion as they emerged from company-called meetings yesterday that soon they will be asked to make concessions in order to decrease the plant's labor costs. Some talked freely yesterday as they left the second session of the first day of meetings arranged by the Granite City Steel management to inform the employees of the condition of the steel industry today.

"That's (concessions) what it's leading to," Wayne Moore of East St. Louis speculated. Moore was one of the first employees to leave the early afternoon meeting at the former Washington Theater on 19th Street.

GC Steel's present attempts to warn employees of the crisis facing the steel industry were compared by Moore, and several others attending the 1:30 session, to the autoworkers who were asked to forego pay raises and benefits in 1980, prior to the closing here of the A.O. Smith Corporation plant.

Few of the employees interviewed believe that GC Steel will follow A.O. Smith and become another major source of employment in the area which would be forced to close completely. The belief expressed by most of those interviewed is that the union will agree to vote against its pay raise when the United Steelworker's of America contract expires in July 1983.

Moore, however, is concerned about what could happen if the union proves unwilling to vote against a pay raise and accept decreased insurance and vacation benefits, the two areas he believes will be most seriously affected.

"They're going to vote to see if they (the unions) are willing to take the concessions. If they (the union) won't, Granite City Steel might be shut down," Moore, who works in the blast furnace department, worried out loud.

Management has not yet asked employees to make concessions of any kind, stressed those questioned. Yet, speculation outside the meeting was that workers should prepare to give up hopes of a pay increase if they want to keep their jobs. Several laborers who mingled in front of the Washington Ballroom said they are prepared to make concessions in order to remain employed.

There was, however, some skepticism after the meeting.

Bob Gerard, who has worked in the blast furnace department for 18 years, said that those conducting the meeting were not specific about GC Steel's losses, and profits, leading him to believe that management is not telling employees the entire story. "We only know what they tell us," Gerard noted.

Management officials did not show employees charts or graphs indicating the company's losses, but did list salaried employees who are giving up pay raises and benefits, Gerard said.

"I think the company is using the economy's downsizing to its advantage," he said.

Gerard estimated that 65 percent of the blast furnace employees have been laid off in the last five years. One such employee is Wallace DeShon, who has been with GC Steel for 20 years.

Others in attendance employed at the blast furnace have less seniority than DeShon, but have not been laid off. "Remote control engines" — devices which have taken the place of workers have caused layoffs, leaving men like DeShon, regardless of seniority, to be temporarily unemployed.

DeShon, who has been laid off since April, said he is very willing to live with concessions in order to keep his job.

Employees who are not laborers expressed the same attitude. A secretary of nearly 30 years at GC Steel would not say whether she thinks management is attempting to prepare employees to make concessions by conducting the meetings. "But if they ask, that's what I'm willing to do," she said.

Management considered during the meeting the idea of placing suggestion boxes in the plant in order to elicit ideas and opinions from employees about how GC Steel can decrease costs. Those conducting the meetings also asked those in attendance questions concerning their thoughts on GC Steel's economic problems.

In addition to explaining problems caused by the economy, officials presented a slide show at the meetings to help employees understand the overall poor condition of the steel industry, the employees related.

The meetings, which are open to Granite City Steel employees only, are continuing today and tomorrow.

Regardless of some uncertainty about the intent of the meetings, all those questioned were sure of at least one thing. In the words of Moore: "the steel industry is hurting real bad."

Granite City Steel seems to be taking the position of a coach on a sporting team, stressing teamwork, rather than selfishness. Voluntary pay cuts have been taken by some top level management personnel, including GC Steel President James Stack, and it is hoped that similar sacrifices will be made by other salaried and hourly personnel.

Through such teamwork, it is hoped that the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. can avoid a situation such as is occurring at the Weirton, W. Va., division, where

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

Madison County's war on drug abuse escalated Wednesday when Granite City, regional, state and federal officers assembled at a local command post and then arrested 26 persons on drug charges.

State's Attorney Don W. Weber, who is holding a press conference today, is convinced the 43 targets of this week's warrants include major participants in narcotics distribution.

Detailed investigations preceded the arrests and are believed to be continuing, with authorities seeking the financial records of a number of alleged drug dealers.

Some suspects are said to have avoided "conspicuous consumption" by making a point of driving old automobiles and dressing poorly, while quietly amassing large sums of money.

Held on bonds totaling $1 million each were Leon Sanasarian, 49, of 1724 Spruce St. and Michael J. Shambro, 34, of Apartment 3 at 4033 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach, each named in four counts of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

Controlled substance charges were filed against 24 persons and cannabis (marijuana) allegations against two defendants.

In all, 47 charges were lodged against the 26 for offenses said to have occurred in the past seven months. Those arrested included residents of Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach.

All were transferred during the afternoon and early evening from the Granite City police building to the Madison County jail.

In some instances, grand jury indictments followed the arrests. But the jury lacked time to consider some of the evidence and is reconvening today.

County officials said about three-fourths of the alleged drug sales leading to warrants occurred at a local apartment where videotapes were made through a one-way mirror.

Among those involved in the massive investigation were the Granite City police department, the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGSI), the Illinois State Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI), the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) agents.

The "sweep" was carried out between 10:45 a.m. and 3 p.m. Wednesday, generally on warrants obtained by MEGSI but some instances on charges by DCI.

Cannabis delivery was alleged as the officers arrested Debra F. Martin, 25, of 2917 Iowa St. at her home and Garvin Butler, 29, of 3801 Lake Drive at his home.

The other charges alleged delivery of controlled drugs, with four violations each listed for Shambro, who was located at the Gaslight Walk apartments, and Sanasarian, who was found in the vicinity of K Mart at the Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Three counts of controlled substance delivery were filed against each of the following: Ulas Davis, 52, of 13 Les Wright Homes, Venice, arrested at the Bissell Street Apartments; Linda K. Lumpkins, 34, of Apt. 8 at 2530 Parkway Drive, found at that address; and Claudine M. Maxwell, 55, of 2038 Sken St., Madison, arrested on Sken.

Two controlled substance delivery counts were lodged against each of the following:

Grace L. Peterson, 56, of 2133 Ohio Ave., arrested there; Tina Marie Petrillo, 31, Rural Route Two, Granite City, booked at the police building; Jerry M. Podraz, 31, of Edison Avenue, charged at the police station; Mark Paul Hill, 29, of 2716 Madison Ave., arrested there.

Also, Michael R. Hoffman, 30, of 1332 Granite Ave., booked at the police station; Gary Wade Barnhart, 23, of

Ask voters to end town tax collectors

Nameoki Township Trustee Helen Hawkins said Wednesday that she is seeking the assistance of the state's attorney's staff in drawing up a petition for a referendum on eliminating the position of township tax collector.

A countywide vote on the issue of township versus county collection was proposed Tuesday by Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zoke" Smith.

Smith plans to ask the Edwardsville League of Women Voters to schedule several public hearings "to test the public's reaction" to the idea of abolishing all township collectors within the county, in favor of tax collection by the county treasurer.

"To get rid of the office of collector, we have to have a referendum throughout the county," Smith said.

At a hearing July 1, Chief Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson ruled that township collectors have the exclusive right to collect and distribute real estate taxes before Sept. 1. On and after Sept. 1, the county treasurer completes the collection task.

A formal order based on the hearing may be issued at 2 p.m. tomorrow, Ferguson said this week.

Although Mrs. Hawkins cast the lone

Council votes against air pollution funding

By GEORGE ANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City's air pollution program, called "archaic" by the city's finance chairman, and a new heating air conditioning system for city hall were both informally deleted from the city's tentative budget by a show of hands at a budget caucus Tuesday.

The caucus vote perhaps foreshadows the end of the city's own air pollution monitoring efforts that have been the target of an increasing number of attacks during progressively harsh economic conditions for the city.

Led by Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, finance chairman, the council voted 8 to 4 to eliminate the air control program after being told the city's air pollution grant is once again in jeopardy.

The inability of Granite City Steel and the city to work out a mutually agreeable inspection schedule is apparently behind the latest grant withdrawal threat from the state.

A lot happened in 50 years

By MIKE MOORE of the Press-Record

"I remember the very day I joined my first Brownie group—it was 1932 and I was in the fifth grade at Emerson School," said Arline Brinkmeyer. Little did Mrs. Brinkmeyer know that her days in Brownies were to be the first step to her life's most rewarding experience. Mrs. Brinkmeyer went on to actively serve the Girl Scout organization for 50 years before retiring this April.

"I was growing up during the depression and everybody was looking for some kind of organization, fun and not too costly, so many girls joined the Scouts," said Mrs. Brinkmeyer. "Children have always like to be in some kind of organization, even if it was only a club in their own back yard."

In the wonderful world of Scouting, Mrs. Brinkmeyer sees aside her formal name years ago. When she was leading a Girl Scout troop, the girls took a vote to find Mrs. Brinkmeyer a new name. Something informal, fun and shorter was being sought by the young ladies. By an almost unanimous vote Mrs. Brinkmeyer was eternally nicknamed "Brinky." "Even today people everywhere refer to me as 'Brinky,'" said Mrs. Brinkmeyer.

During high school, when it was considered "square" to be a Girl Scout, "Brinky" pursued her career without regard to peer pressure. Nowadays, most Girl Scouts have complete uniforms decorated with pins and medals and highlighted with hats, socks and belts, but during "Brinky's" days, the depression affected many and uniforms were rarely seen. Fortunately, Granite City High School home economics teachers allowed students to sew their own uniforms, instead of the usual required dress.

"The famous 'Girl Scout cookies' played an important role in the organization. The very first cookies in this area were made by a local bakery. Huge sugar cookies were made and placed in brown paper bags. By the time that we took orders and delivered them, they had soaked through the bag," recalled Mrs. Brinkmeyer. "They sure were delicious," she recalls fondly.

Riding camp, ages 12 to 15, teaches horse lovers riding techniques, care of horses and general horsemanship, in addition to other camp activities.

Work camp, ages 14 to 16, involves campers in half-day activities to improve the campsite. Campers plan, design and construct a project. The remainder of the day is spent in traditional camp activity. Tripping camp, ages 13 to 15, introduces campers to canoeing, backpacking and rock climbing. Training is offered in first aid, camping skills and group initiative. Extending tripping, ages 15 to 17, July 29 to Aug. 19, offers three weeks of canoeing in Canada. Transportation is provided. Camping costs range from $135 to $245, depending upon the program. Limited scholarships are available through the Y's Monsanto campership fund. State Fair tickets available

Tickets for the 1982 Illinois State Fair have been on sale for only weeks and the $7 tickets for the Willie Nelson and Barbara Mandrell shows are sold out, said Mike DuBois, Illinois State Fair entertainment manager.

"DuBois stressed, however, that there are plenty of $6 and $4 tickets left."

Tickets for all events are available through Ticketron. This is the first year tickets have been sold through the computerized system that provides about 55 additional sales outlets throughout the state.

DuBois said that the Ticketron system is "working excellent" and the remote Ticketron outlets have accounted for about 25 percent of the advance ticket sales.

Tickets also are available by writing to the Illinois State Fair Ticket Office,

Post Office Box 576, Springfield, Ill., 62705 or by visiting the Ticketron Outlet in the grandstand from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Visa and Mastercard purchases will be accepted over the phone and tickets will be mailed to patrons. The number for this service is 217-782-1979. No other phone orders will be taken this year.

Ticket prices for the grandstand events are $7, $6 and $4 in advance. In addition, $1,500, $4 tickets are set aside until the day of the show when they will be reduced to $2.

United States Auto Club race tickets sell for $8, $7, $6 and $5.

On the first day of harness racing, the admission is free while other days the tickets are $4. The day of the event the remaining tickets will be cut to $2.

Seek local input on utility's costs

Quad-Cityans' viewpoints on gas and electric rates are being sought actively by the Illinois Commerce Commission, Chairman Michael V. Hasten emphasized this week.

In a message to State Representative Sam W. Wolf, Hasten said, "As a part of the formal proceedings in the general rate increase request by Illinois Power Company in Docket 82-0152, the Illinois Commerce Commission, on its own motion, will hold a local public hearing in your district in order to provide an opportunity for residents to express their opinions about the company's service and rates."

"This hearing will be held at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., on July 28 at 6:30 p.m."

"As you well know, the cost of gas and electric utility service is of concern to many of your constituents."

"During its 11-month hearing process, the commission will carefully examine the company's request for rate relief, based on testimony, financial data and other evidence presented by the company and intervenors in the case."

"Present and future customers of Illinois Power can expect nothing less than a thorough and impartial examination of all relevant factors presented to the commission in this case," Hasten pledged.

"Local public hearings provide utility ratepayers with the opportunity to take part in the commission's hearing process without having to travel to the ICC offices in Springfield."

"Since the Commerce Commission is very aware that rate increases can create additional financial burdens on low-income and moderate-income people, we wish to provide them with this opportunity to make their views known concerning the proposed rate increase."

"The rapidly increasing price of natural gas, which is the result of the gradual decontrol authorized by the Federal Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978, makes public hearings like these even more important."

"I invite you to attend the hearing and hope that you will notify your constituents about it."

"If you or your constituents have any questions or comments about the hearing, or any other utility related problems, please contact our Consumer Affairs Division. They will be happy to help you in any way possible," the chairman concluded.

Lovett cites impact of banking regulation

Donald R. Lovett, formerly of Granite City, is the new president of the Illinois Bankers' Association. The term of office is for one year.

Lovett, in his acceptance speech at the IBA convention in St. Louis, said the primary focus of his administration will be to concentrate on federal legislative and regulatory issues that they affect the banking industry in Illinois.

"We cannot afford the luxury of thinking that we in Illinois are bounded by the Mississippi, Wabash and Ohio rivers. What happens on the Potomac will be felt here," Lovett said.

"We believe strongly in allowing each state to determine its own banking laws and that is why the IBA has historically had such a strong presence in Springfield. We are not going to diminish state legislative activity while increasing activity on the national level."

"Too many things are happening in Washington and we cannot ignore them."

"There are forces in Washington that would like to change the banking system overnight, counterbalanced by others who would hold that any idea conceived after the McFadden Act is suspect."

"The McFadden Act of 1927 guaranteed the power of individual states to control the branching of national banks within state borders."

Lovett added that William J. Hoyer, IBA executive vice-president, has reshuffled the senior staff of the association's headquarters so that he can "devote more time to making things happen in Washington on behalf of the bankers of Illinois."

Slight growth in state funds

The year just ended showed the smallest annual increase in state government revenue since fiscal 1966, while the growth was $133 million.

Total general revenues in fiscal 1982 were $8,285,000,000, which was $165 million or 2 percent higher than the previous year.

General expenditures in 1982 were $8,275 billion, $18 million or 0.2 percent less than in 1981 and the first time since expenditures have decreased since the beginning of annual appropriations in 1970.

Revenues from state tax sources increased by $251 million or 3.8 percent in the fiscal year ended June 30, led by gains in income tax receipts. Individual income taxes were up $159 million or 7.2 percent; corporate taxes were down $20 million or 3.9 percent. Federal aid, on the other hand, declined by $86 million or 5.7 percent.

Reflecting, in part, current economic conditions, public aid grants rose in Fiscal 1982. Aid to dependent children increased $513 million and general assistance was up $42 million, although medical assistance dropped $36 million.

ARREST FOR DAMAGE

Gary W. Ducus Jr., 23, of 2549 Revere's Route was taken into custody last week at Rock Road and Cayuga Street on a charge of property damage. Part of a brick had been thrown through a display window of Michel's Jewelry, 1842 State St., two hours earlier, damaging a $27 porcelain statue.

In-home care rules changed

The Illinois Department on Aging has received an order from U.S. District Judge Prentice H. Marshall requiring the agency to implement new eligibility standards for its community care program effective immediately.

Under former eligibility requirements, persons could receive in-home services if they were over 60 and physically in need of service. Clients have not been charged fees for services in the past.

"The program has been providing service to 10,000 clients per month; however, there are another 3,700 clients on waiting lists for services who have not yet received them, due to budgetary limitations of the department," IDA Director Peg R. Blaser said Tuesday. "The court feels that by revising our standards, only those persons who are most in need of service, both physically and financially, can receive service in the future. Therefore, clients can no longer be placed on waiting lists for services."

"We regret that the new eligibility requirements are more stringent and mean we will no longer be able to serve the range of individuals that we have been. As the department implements the court's order, however, our continued goal will be to help older people remain in their own homes." Preventive services for persons with minimal impairments will no longer be available. Clients will be ranked according to their level of impairment and income level. Those clients who are found to be in need of service and who have incomes below $315 per month will receive services without paying a fee.

Individuals with incomes between $315 and $630 per month who are determined eligible for services will pay a fee according to their income and the cost of care they are receiving. Those with incomes of over $630 a month will be ineligible from service.

Fees will be individually calculated, with the state contributing from 55 percent to 100 percent of the cost of services.

"Current clients will not be affected by the new eligibility standards, but all new clients and those on waiting lists will be affected immediately," she said.

"These are interim standards which may be altered after we have had sufficient time to work with other state agencies involved in the delivery of long-term care service."

The court order sets a 30-day time limit for determining the eligibility of applicants, followed by a 15-day period to inform the client of eligibility, with services to be provided within 15 days of that date. Services provided through the department's community care program include chore-housekeeping, homemaker and adult day care.

Head Start registration on Aug. 2

The Madison County Opportunity Commission's annual Head Start registration is scheduled for Aug. 2.

The staff will be taking applications for Head Start classrooms throughout the county.

Head Start is a pre-kindergarten preparatory program, now being operated on a full school year basis. Head Start is designed to help children of low-income families and also the handicapped.

Age eligibility for children living in Granite City, Madison and Venice who are four or will be four on or before Dec. 31, 1982, will be eligible.

The following documents are required for registration:

1. Proof of child's birth (birth certificate, medical card or other legal document).
2. Child's immunization record.
3. Verification of income.
4. If guardian of the child, the adult must provide the legal document.

"If you are interested in giving your child a head start for kindergarten, please contact the nearest recruitment site in your area," Phyllis Haynes of Madison County EOC Head Start said today.

LOOKING UP! Helen Miller, a kindergarten teacher in the Granite City school system, reaches for the top shelf to replace a magazine in the Granite City Public Library, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue. The library has just replaced old, crowded shelves with new shelves to allow more storage space. An Apple II computer terminal, for research purposes at the user's expense, also has been added to the library's reference department.

Computer, new shelves make GC library more efficient

The Granite City Public Library has added two new items — shelves and an Apple II computer — to the main library on Delmar Avenue.

"The old shelves were terribly crowded and books were hard to see," explained Robert Stack, librarian of the Granite City public libraries. The library recently installed 500 shelves on the main floor.

Now there is more room to walk between the aisles and approximately 12,000 books can be stored much more easily.

"The shelves are beautiful, but there is one small problem, they are too tall," said library patron Helen Miller. "Optimistically, I'm about 4 feet, 11 inches. Of course, I used to stand 6 feet tall and weighed 300 pounds, but I started 'teaching' kindergarten and I shrunk," joked Mrs. Miller, while stretching to reach a magazine.

Small stools are located around the library and may be used for reaching tip top books.

"The Apple II computer is the property of the Library System of Illinois," said Stack. The computer is connected with data bases and can retrieve information at any time.

The library computer is a fee service and is not for public use. Librarians are trained to use the computer. Dialog, a computer information service connects the Granite City Public Library with a world-wide data bank.

Dialog contains information from more than 50,000 journals written in more than 40 languages. Included in nearly 20 million records are references and citations to periodicals, reports, descriptions to current research, dissertations, patents, conference proceedings, books, pamphlets, legislative documents, manuals, reviews, newspaper articles and lectures.

WALLET STOLEN

Christy Bertrand, 2523 Grand Ave., reported late last week that her wallet, lying on the front seat of her car, was stolen while she was paying for gasoline at the Clark Station, 20th Street and Madison Avenue. As she returned to her car, she saw a young man riding a bicycle near the automobile and then discovered the wallet missing. It contained $3 cash and personal papers.

CAR HITS BICYCLIST

Terry L. King, 17, of 2529 Northridge, a bicyclist, was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center last week for multiple injuries after a collision with the auto of James G. Moe, 17, of 2368 Miracle Ave. The motorist was northbound on Maryville Road and turning left to go west on Saratoga, and King was riding south.

Form support group for dementia victims

As a result of a conference on dementia and Alzheimer's Disease, sponsored by Belleville Area College's General Studies and Community Services Division, a support group for families of patients suffering from the diseases has been formed.

The first meeting of the support group will be at 1 p.m. Wednesday, July 21, at the Four Fountains Convalescent Center, 101 South Belt West, Belleville.

The purpose of the group is to educate families about the disease and provide emotional support. Dementia and Alzheimer's Disease cause intellectual dysfunction often interpreted as delirium by victims and their families and friends.

In the early stages of the diseases, victims may believe they are "losing their minds," said Judy Bravin of BAC General Studies and Community Services Division. They are frightened because they cannot control their actions. In later stages, patients are unaware of their actions, she added.

Because the diseases advance slowly, families and friends often find them difficult to deal with, Mrs. Bravin said.

More information on the group is available from Carol Sterling, director of social services at the center, 1-277700.

Prison industries enjoy boom year

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Correctional Industries program, a money loser for uncounted years, will be in the black again this year, according to the program's director, Howard Skolnik. Sales are expected to top $8 million by the time the fiscal year ends on June 30, he said, surpassing last year's record-setting $7.2 million in sales.

By the time costs of materials and associated costs such as pay for outside supervisors were deducted, "I'll be happy if we show a $50,000 profit, but when you've been in the red for years, a $50,000 profit looks good."

The program, under which a whole catalogue of items are manufactured inside the walls by inmates, is limited by law to selling its output only to other state agencies, the corrections department itself, and certain other non-profit organizations and groups. Often plagued in the past with deficits, charges of mismanagement and irregularities, including handling of orders and billings, the operation was completely overhauled a few years ago.

Skolnik said the recently opened laundry at the East Moline facility, which was converted from a former Mental Health Department facility, will begin on July 1 to accept laundry from customers other than the corrections department.

"We expect to see a significant drop in sign orders from the department in the next year," Skolnik said. "They've got financial problems like everybody else."

He said the department previously had stockpiled signs and had a "good inventory" on which it will probably draw for necessary road signs during the coming months.

The program's biggest new operation will come when the new Vienna prison is opened. Plans call for the state to resume making auto license plates for Illinois vehicles there, the first time in at least 50 years that Illinois license plates will have been made by Illinois inmates.

"The last reference to plate manufacturing in prison I can find was 1930," Skolnik said, "when it was abandoned for reasons I could never find out. I haven't been able to find anybody, either in the administration or among the inmates, who remembers the program in operation."

styles on sale in the open market. The more traditional types that have been in production will remain available for about a year to allow earlier customers to finish decorating projects.

Services provided through the department's community care program include chore-housekeeping, homemaker and adult day care.

Two new products are being added to the lines of maintenance products manufactured, Skolnik said — a new germicidal soap that meets standards of the Joint Committee on Hospital Accreditation, and a non-buffing wax that has been available in the outside market for some time but has never before been produced by prison industries in the state.

The metalworking shop at Pontiac, which at one time was operating two and three shifts, is back to one shift, Skolnik said, and is not likely to expand much even when construction of a planned new prison at Vienna advances to a point where work can start on making the institution's furnishings. He said the decrease in planned operations there results from financial constraints on the state Department of Transportation, which has been the primary sign customer of the metal shop.

Older persons need exercise too

FITNESS PAST FIFTY
By Robert (Doc) Spackman
Southern Illinois
University of Carbondale

(EDITORS NOTE: Robert Spackman—better known as "Doc"—is a longtime athletics trainer and nationally known expert on physical fitness who's his own best argument for exercise. At age 64, Doc out-fits youngsters half his age and continues to develop exercise regimens like those he'll be preaching in this new column. Doc has retired after a long career as head trainer for Southern Illinois University's Salukis. But he's now helping students and faculty members stay in shape through SIUC's Wellness Resource Center. These columns are written with Tom Wood of the University News Service.)

The older you are the more your body needs exercise. Exercise isn't for kids, as many people believe. Exercise is for everyone over the age of 21. And the older you are, the more you need it.

Physical fitness should be an everyday project for everyone.

A lot of people think that as they get older they're supposed to get weaker, heavier and tighter. They think it's just natural to adopt a slow-paced style of living.

Physical conditioning can help you slow down the aging process and enable you to get more enjoyment out of everything you do, whatever your age.

Start out by checking in with your physician for a thorough physical examination. Then, adopt a sound conditioning program and supplement it with a well-balanced diet. Together they'll give you added strength, flexibility and the cardiovascular endurance you'll need to carry out your day-to-day activities without undue fatigue.

A good conditioning program and a balanced diet will add up to leftover energy at day's end—so you can play golf, bowl, go dancing or swimming, or do whatever it is you enjoy for recreation.

Research shows that a muscle will develop, maintain or lose strength according to its use. The old cliché "use it or lose it" is especially true when it comes to physical fitness.

Many senior citizens feel it is too late to regain their strength and fitness. That's nonsense. If you can move a muscle, you can strengthen and stretch it.

Sure, you can get strong much faster at 18 than you can at 80, but that doesn't mean it's impossible—or even overly difficult—to gain strength when you're an octogenarian.

There are some basic exercise needs common to all senior citizens. We'll discuss these—and other components of a good conditioning program—in length in upcoming articles. For now, they are:

—stretching exercises to improve and maintain complete range of motion in all joints;
—strength exercises to avoid fatigue and pain and greater enjoyment in your everyday activities.
—cardiovascular exercises to improve endurance and circulation.

17-FOOT CANOE GONE

An orange 17-foot-long fiberglass canoe owned by Clifford Parks Jr., 323 Wilson Park Lane, was stolen from the back lawn there last week.

Coupled with a sound, well-balanced diet, a conditioning program incorporating these types of exercises will help you achieve fitness and greater enjoyment in your everyday activities.

Give it a try.

Next: Where to begin.

'Animal House' starts Sunday

Food fights, fraternity rush parties and all the decadence of ancient Rome can be found in the movie "Animal House," scheduled at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The movie is rated R and is part of the student Program Series. The movie will be shown Sunday, July 11, in the lounge of the Tower Lake Commons Building, and on Monday, July 12, and Wednesday, July 14, in the Deja Vu Room of University Center. All three showings will be at 8 p.m.

The film was directed by John Landis and was a National Lampoon production. It stars John Belushi and Tim Matheson in a parody on college life.

Belushi and Matheson are fraternity brothers in a house which is the "black sheep" of the campus fraternities. The movie follows the adventures of the fraternity brothers and the college administration's attempts to cut them from the community.

Tickets for the movies are $1 for SIUC students with IDs and $1.50 for all others. Tickets will be available at the door.

Tax collectors

Nameoki Town Board vote against permitting Nameoki Collector Norman Hall to proceed with collections this year, and was outvoted, she said she thinks there is sufficient grassroots support among residents of both Nameoki and Chouteau townships to assure a strong vote in those areas, favoring county collection.

"Something has been revived again that's just not needed," she said in assailing the local tax collection concept. "It's a horse and buggy law."

Madison County is one of three counties in the state retaining township collector offices; only a few township collectors in this county have been actively collecting taxes in the past several years, it was asserted at the hearing.

Hall contends that township collectors can help prevent taxing districts from having to borrow funds; the township can do this by collecting and distributing taxes faster than the county, he says.

Testimony at the hearing tended to agree with Hall's assertion of faster distribution here than by way of Edwardsville, the county seat, advocates of township collection say.

Many school districts and cities have said the timing of the tax cycle in recent years has limited their investments and forced much anticipation of taxes.

The tax anticipation warrants require the local entities to pay interest instead of drawing interest on investments, but the governmental agencies say they have no choice when newly-collected taxes are slow to arrive.

County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus blames late tax billing on assessment officials.

Mrs. Hawkins disagrees that taxing bodies would be inconvenienced by centralized county collection, and is prepared to help spearhead petition and election activity. She said she was advised by Smith that the issue must be considered on a county scale, rather than a single township.

In an interview yesterday, Mrs. Hawkins said she was in the process that day of formally contacting the state's attorney about drafting the petition. Smith's views were made known in Edwardsville on Tuesday.

Mrs. Hawkins said she considers an election to eliminate township collectors a quicker way of deciding the issue, compared to an earlier approach, the earlier vote plan would have abolished a requirement that balloting on township officials must include a tax collector position.

The trustee acknowledged that a collector referendum cannot appear on Madison County ballots before the spring of 1983. She said she will begin her petition drive in earnest this fall.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles is limited to including three special county votes in the Nov. 2, 1982, general election. She already has scheduled county tax questions affecting the sheltered care home, the nursing home and the highway department.

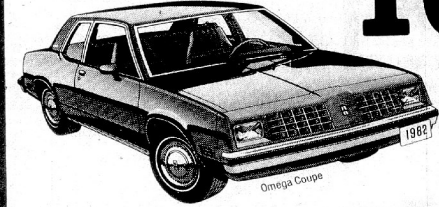

Smith said Tuesday that one alternative to a spring 1983 election would be to place the election task on the townships, "but if we did that we'd just end up with another big mess this year. I don't think they can possibly handle the increased workload on the collection budgets they have."

Revenue Sharing Fund cutbacks?

At the regular meeting of the Madison City Council Tuesday night, the councilmen were notified by officials of the federal revenue sharing program of the revised Madison city population figures that indicated a 10 percent decrease in the total residents. The previous population figure, used by the federal government to determine allocations to the city, was 5,900. The revised figure is now 5,300, according to the report received by the city.

City Comptroller Al Hodzik remarked, "I do not feel that we lost to the census area and we are checking into the situation. If this figure is adopted by the federal government, it will have a definite effect on the amount of allocations we receive.

In other business, the payment of regular monthly bills totaling $15,587 was approved.

It also was noted that a total of 24 permits were issued by Madison building inspector John Dutko. They included thirteen occupancy permits, four temporary utility permits, three new services permits, two new inspections and two building permits.

Hudzik presented a gross payroll deferral plan dealing with the employees' Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund contribution. If adopted by the city council, it would result in a tax break for the city's employees.

The plan, which allows the employees to deduct the amount paid into the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund from their reportable gross income on the federal and state income tax forms, does not effect the amount or rate of the employees' IMRF contribution.

The city attorney was instructed to prepare a resolution, needed to adopt the deferral plan, which could be considered by the city council at its next meeting.

It was noted that the city will be receiving bids in the near future on various alarm equipment as soon as the specifications are prepared and the proper advertisements are published.

The payment of $104,190 of outstanding bills for the construction of the Alpine Village mini-mall to the Winfield Construction Company was approved by the council. Items included in the bills were refrigerator equipment, the free standing Alpine Village sign, attorney fees and supplies.

The council approved putting the Motor Fuel Tax fund final report for the 1980 calendar year on file. It will now be available for public inspection.

A zoning petition was referred to the zoning board which concerns the enclosure of the front porch of the home of Virgil Wall Sr., 918 Grand Ave.

In a letter to the council, the Venice Park Board thanked the City of Madison for the use of a boom truck needed for the painting of the flag pole at the Venice Recreation Center.

At the close of the meeting, Mayor Sasyk reminded the councilmen and public of the grand opening of the Alpine Village mini-mall on July 17 beginning at 10 a.m.

Interstate detours during repairs

Quad-City area residents planning to venture to St. Louis after Sunday may well be advised to use McKinley Bridge or some other route which does not require the use of Interstates 55-70 near East St. Louis, just east of the Poplar Street Bridge.

Beginning Monday, for 15 days, detours will be required for repairs to the deck surface and parapet as the result of a recent accident and fire on the east side of Poplar Street Bridge.

In an effort to minimize the effects on rush-hour traffic, all westbound lanes will be open between 6 and 10 a.m. weekdays and the eastbound lanes will be open from 2 to 7 p.m. weekdays.

During non-rush-hour periods, however, eastbound traffic will be detoured onto the collector ramps around the construction. Westbound traffic will be squeezed into one lane, but there will be no westbound detour.

Keeley & Sons Construction of East St. Louis will do the repairs. Work is expected to be completed about July 26.

Women's tourney in Madison

The Madison Playground and Recreation Commission is planning an eight-team women's softball tournament Friday and Saturday, July 16 and 17.

According to coordinator Sam Dymas, the tournament, to be played at the field located at Third Street and Highland, will be double elimination.

The tournament will be limited to the first eight teams registered. Further information may be obtained by calling Dymas at 876-6418 or 451-4845.

Percy never stops selling Illinois

BY KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — "Every day of the week, every single foreign official I see, I talk Illinois, Illinois, Illinois shipments."

"The Senate Foreign Relations Committee rejected the (nuclear) freeze vote this week and I led the fight against it."

These two comments on widely divergent topics by U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy, who as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee probably ranks as among the 20 most powerful Americans, reflect his two basic goals in life: 1. Win re-election two years from now. 2. Play a significant role in the effort to bring about a more peaceful world.

Percy, a trim and energetic 62, was asked to comment on various matters during a recent airport-to-airport tour of the state.

In an interview, as usual he answered all questions directly and without reservation.

He special pains to stress how he uses his foreign affairs portfolio to come in and out of the country.

He described a recent success in obtaining landing rights in Tokyo for United Airlines, one of the world's largest, which is based in Chicago.

"I've used every bit of clout that I can get those landing rights. It's a huge opportunity to increase our trade, our shipments to Japan, to open up their markets by flying directly from Chicago."

"That's just one more example where we're using our influence. I talked to Secretary Michael (Reagan) at the House today" yesterday after having the president reduce these restrictions on sales to the Soviet Union of non-high technology equipment and non-defense equipment.

Flat-out, Michael (Reagan) said, "Deere and Co. all should be free to sell any place in the world the type of equipment they make. It's a ridiculous law to keep these restrictions, and we're hurting our clout. We have broken the barriers in Europe that were put up against our corn and soybeans."

There was, perhaps, a time when those in powerful positions in Congress were publicly discreet about using their power to help their home states and, incidentally, assure their re-election. But discretion is out of style in this era of free-for-all politicking, and Chuck Percy is no exception.

"I never saw Bob Byrd quit selling West Virginia coal as (Senate) minority or majority leader. I don't ever stop selling Illinois products. Our goal is a billion dollars of increased DOD (Department of Defense) business this year over last year because that's the biggest growing budget in federal government now."

"I'm the number one designated salesman for the state of Illinois and this is how we use foreign relations. We keep a more peaceful and safe and more profitable Illinois — by using our influence abroad."

Percy may be scoring well in helping the Illinois economy, but the strained Illinois vehicle caused him to run off the road, lose control of his car and strike a light pole while driving west on Victory, near Myrtle Avenue, at 5:05 p.m. Monday.

problem.

"He is unpredictable. I had a long talk with him Dec. 29 when I met him at his home. I urged that we have no surprises between us, that partners could not work in partnership if one partner did not tell the other what they're up to."

The magnitude of it (Lebanon invasion) came as a total surprise to the administration and to the committee."

The tremendous threat that Israel continued to say was presented to it by the Palestinians in Southern Lebanon did not appear to be much of a threat when they could be so totally overruled."

Matters have been working out better with Secretary of State Alexander Haig, considered controversial by many in Washington.

"It was a relationship separated by a table unfortunately when he testified before our committee. For that reason I have occasionally asked the secretary to come in and sit with us after 6 o'clock, sit down in a relaxed atmosphere in my office in the Capitol."

He said he would be a legitimate recording secretary, without staff there — I have found these meetings very extraordinarily profitable and rewarding for both him and the committee."

Although Percy is adamantly opposed to any nuclear freeze at present levels, feeling this would give a dangerous advantage to the Russians, he remains optimistic about an eventual agreement on nuclear reduction. He credits Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev with a genuine desire for nuclear agreement, but doubts his departure from the office in August would make much difference.

"I saw the Kremlin a little over a year ago and as I have observed over a period of years, it has been a leadership relationship. Although Brezhnev has been a member of the Politburo of 12 other members which must rule these matters, I know Brezhnev is totally dedicated to a nuclear agreement. (He) pointed out to me: 'We had 20 million, the flower of our youth, with conventional weapons. Then what would it be with nuclear weapons?'"

Percy shares this attitude and feels President Reagan does, too: "So we must find a way to reduce this level of terror and I am encouraged that an accord I can probably reach an accord. I've convinced President Reagan wants a nuclear reduction and will continue to work toward that. And I think Brezhnev and the collective leadership will."

"I never saw Bob Byrd quit selling West Virginia coal as (Senate) minority or majority leader. I don't ever stop selling Illinois products. Our goal is a billion dollars of increased DOD (Department of Defense) business this year over last year because that's the biggest growing budget in federal government now."

City workers' sick leave policy dispute

By GEORGEANN MCGEE

of the Press-Record

"We're asking for it proof that they are sick," Granite City Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk said.

Fisk presented his negotiating committee's proposal that no sick leave be granted to city employees without written medical statements.

The Granite City Council gave voice approval Tuesday to Fisk's choice of one of four alternates in preparation for a formal ordinance to be prepared by the city attorney this month.

President Robert Bell of Firefighters Local 253, however, said it is possible that the city's apparent choice to delete sick leave — rather than to negotiate the item — could result in another court battle between the city and firefighters.

Firefighters and two other city employee unions successfully challenged the city's right last year to roll back wages.

Before the matter became a legal fight, Bell said, he will meet next week with both the city's negotiating committee and union members to try and reach a compromise.

Bell said he disagrees with the premise that sick leave is abused, at least as far as the firefighters are concerned. Also a representative of the city's emergency medical technicians (EMTs), he said there could be a legitimate questioning of the past sick leave use by some of the ambulance employees.

"We're asking for it proof that they are sick," Granite City Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk said.

Proposed USDA rule would permit state to operate workfare program

"Though workfare demonstration projects for food stamp recipients have been operating for several years, proposed regulations announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture recently provide States and local jurisdictions the option for the first time of adopting workfare as a permanent feature of the food stamp program," said Assistant Secretary Mary Jarratt.

Under the "workfare" concept, work eligible food stamp recipients participate in a work experience activity along with receiving food stamp benefits. The public service work done in return for food stamp allotments is valued at the federal or State minimum wage, whichever is higher. A maximum of 20 hours per week could be required of any household.

The workfare demonstration projects, which began operating as early as July 1979, provided helpful information for policymakers.

"We believe workfare can provide valuable work experience to recipients in assisting them to become self-reliant, and we are hopeful that skills acquired in this program will enable more public assistance participants to transfer to private sector employment," the assistant secretary said.

Past workfare participants have engaged in a wide array of work activities, including learning how to operate heavy construction equipment, using existing electrical and carpentry skills for assisting in community building projects, providing crafts activities to senior citizens and learning repair work.

The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981, Public Law 97-98, authorized the extension of workfare as a permanent food stamp program feature at State or local political subdivision option. The law allows participating jurisdictions to combine food stamp workfare operations with those from other workfare-type programs that States and local jurisdictions might already administer. "Obviously, the program is more economically feasible when operated in conjunction with other public assistance programs, and we are delighted that P.L. 97-98 allows local jurisdictions to combine their food stamp workfare with that for aid to families with dependent children, for example," said Jarratt.

The State agency, through its local offices, would be responsible for referring eligible recipients to workfare operating agencies and for establishing and processing sanctions for noncompliance, under the proposed regulations. The State agency also would be responsible for monitoring jobs sites and for interviewing and assigning eligible recipients.

Food and Nutrition Service would provide 50 percent funding to both State and operating agencies for cost incurred in administering a workfare program. As a part of this 50 percent funding, participants would be reimbursed up to $25 per month for transportation and for necessary work equipment which is provided by the employer.

A comment period of 45 days is provided for this proposed rule, which appeared in the Federal Register on June 8. A final rule will then be issued, effective 30 days after its publication in the Federal Register.

of management studies at the university. Dr. Koepke said the primary thrust of the task force has been to explore further the possibilities of creating an economic development program to strengthen the economy of the River Bend area. The area includes seven municipalities and five townships in northwest Madison County.

A separate Granite City economic development program is being discussed, and the local area will be represented at the research session.

SIUE has proposed a Southwestern Illinois development corporation as an "umbrella" agency to work with Granite City, River Bend and other groups.

Beware the black widow and brown recluse here

By RONALD CORNWELL
With warmer weather, spiders and their webs are again a concern.

Although the majority of spiders found in and around homes are not considered poisonous, some people are very sensitive to spider bites and may experience severe reactions to a bite.

In Illinois, brown recluse and black widow spiders are the most dangerous.

A bite by a brown recluse spider may cause severe pain and a rash. A small blister often forms near the bite and is surrounded by an area of swelling.

The skin tissue sloughs away, leaving an ulcerlike area that can be the size of a half dollar. The bite may require six to eight weeks to heal and can leave a sunken scar.

The brown recluse is about a half-inch long and ranges from light brown to chocolate brown. A dark brown mark, like a fiddle, on its back just behind the head distinguishes the brown recluse from other spiders.

Indoors, recluse spiders are usually found in cracks and crevices, often in storage areas, or hidden in clothing that has been left undisturbed for some time. Outdoors, they are protected beneath boards, stones or other types of cover.

The bite from a black widow is similar to a pinprick. The area around the bite may swell.

Victims may experience a variety of symptoms depending on how sensitive they are to the bite. Most symptoms usually disappear after a few days.

The female black widow is black with a red hour-glass mark on the underside of the abdomen. The male, which does not bite, has yellow and red bands and spots over the back.

The black widow generally lives outdoors under litter or in buildings such as sheds or garages.

To control spiders, the advice is to use an outside foundation spray of diazinon to prevent migration into the house.

In the home, families are advised to apply a ready-to-use spray of Baygon, Dursban or Daxinon according to label directions to baseboards, cracks or other areas where spiders might hide.

BURGLARY REPORTED

A jewelry box, assorted jewelry, a woman's wedding band, a diamond necklace valued at $186 and a stereo and speakers were discovered stolen from a mobile home at East 23rd Street and Namecki Road, according to a report by Jeanette Hoffman late last week. Entry was apparently gained through a door that was locked, but had a damaged latch, and the intruder had ransacked drawers in all rooms.

TABBY CAT SHOT

A tabby cat was shot with a pellet gun and treated at a veterinarian's office for the removal of pellets, treatment of puncture wounds and a broken leg. It was reported by the owner William Brookshire Sr., 911 Twenty-fourth St., late last week. He said he would sign a complaint against the person or persons who injured the feline and wants that person to pay the $300 medical costs.

Six-day delivery in jeopardy, delegates at convention told Four Representatives from Granite City Branch 1132 of the National Association of Letter Carriers have returned from the state convention. The delegates, William D. Barton, John Serlich, Lonnie Stone and Gary Williams, spent the weekend of June 24 to 26 in Peoria as the Illinois State Association of Letter Carriers met for the 82nd time.

The main subject of the convention was legislative action. It was noted at the convention that letter carriers are in danger of losing many of their benefits through Congressional action, including Civil Service retirement, cost-of-living allowances, six-day delivery and postal monopoly.

John Serlich, president of Branch 1132, noted, "Loss of these benefits will not only affect letter carriers but the American public, especially six-day delivery and postal monopoly." He also stated, "The subjects of these conventions seem to differ from year to year, but their purpose remains constant—protecting the well-being of the Postal Service and its employees."

The local branch also was cited at the convention for its participation in a Congressional breakfast held in Washington, D.C., on March 23 and 24 of this year. At that time, Godfrey Allen represented Branch 1132 in a group from Illinois, which met with senators and congressmen to discuss problems concerning letter carriers and the postal service. The breakfast was part of a new program which was instituted by the national office. The program, called "Grassroots Legislation," redirects the efforts of state organizations from education to lobbying. The trip to Washington, D.C., became an annual affair, a spokesman said.

Purse snatcher hit, but escapes

Despite being hit in the face by the victim of a purse snatching, a thief escaped with the purse of Ethyl Cook of the 1400 block of Seventh Street, Madison, at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Cook told police she was walking from her daughter's house along an alley between Sixth and Seventh streets, at the rear of the OATH Center, when she noticed a man walking parallel to her on State Street, who suddenly ran toward her and grabbed the purse.

She struggled with the man and hit him in the face with the purse, but he pushed her to the ground and ran down the alley toward Sixth Street.

'Overforecasted' future demands

SPRINGFIELD — Results of a study by the Illinois Electric Service Territory forecast for a utility have been presented to the Illinois Commerce Commission, alleging that Commonwealth Edison Co. "significantly overforecasted its customers' demands" in the years ahead.

The independent forecast projected future demand at "no more than one-half of 1 percent per year in the next decade," in contrast to Com-Ed's own projection that peak load demand will increase at a 2 percent annual rate over the next 10 years.

The testimony — labeled a "landmark" by the Governor's Office of Consumer Services (GOC'S) which represents the testimony of 10 experts and a year and a half of research, according to GOC'S Director Alvin K. Grady. The testimony was filed on behalf of GOC'S client, Senior Citizens' Legal Services Advisory Council of Cook County Legal Assistance Foundation Inc.

Forecasted growth in load, the demand for electrical power, is a key element in determining Com-Ed's need for an additional generating plant, financing plan and the level of required revenues in the future.

"Based upon testimony filed, it appears that Com-Ed's projections of energy efficiency improvements, conservation efforts and high electrical prices will continue to reduce the company's load forecast to more accurate, that the demand for electrical power may not be there in the future, then the next order of business must be to resolve those questions concerning the financial feasibility of Edison's current construction program."

LICENSE SUSPENSION

Terry D. Olinger, 24, of 50 Eduardo Drive was arrested last week for driving with a suspended license at Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue. He also was advised of a Collinsville warrant and was freed on $204 cash bail.

Entry was apparently gained by taking a board from a garage window.

EAST 23RD INJURY

Frances Love, 63, of 2828 Marshall Ave. was hurt slightly while a passenger in the car of Roland Riddle, 221 E. 11th, it collided with the auto of Leroy Hallows of Cahokia on East 23rd Street at Nameoki Road.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Arlene Harris, 25 Greener Homes, returned to her home at 10:48 a.m. Friday and found an unknown person had entered her apartment and taken $83 worth of meat and food stamps in the amount of $43.

ISSUE WARRANT

Gerald O. Jones, 43, of 2308 W. 23rd St., was arrested at home last week on a warrant alleging failure to appear in court on an expired license charge. He was released on payment of a $50 cash bond.

CANNABIS AT SUE

Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick has sentenced Alan L. Brodsky, 11, Moline Acres, St. Louis County, to one-year probation and fined him $300 and $30 costs for possessing cannabis April 26 at SIUE. The original charge of 30 to 499 grams was amended to 10 to 29 grams.

Mrs. Lena Hopf, 2108 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported Monday that someone stole $150 from a bank envelope which was kept in a bedroom.

Beaver Dam is a popular spot for Quad-City fishermen

(Editor's Note: Beaver Dam, northeast of Alton, has been a favorite fishing spot for local fishermen for many years. Its location, within one hour of Granite City, and its reputation for bluegill fishing, make it a good selection for one-day fishing outings. The following is reprinted from "Outdoor Highlights," a publication of the Illinois Department of Conservation.)

A century ago, a colony of beaver in the Macoupin County wilderness constructed a dam across Horseshoe Creek and created a shallow, 30-acre lake. Later, a group of anglers from Carlinville formed the Beaver Dam Lake Club, dug into their pockets and raised $2,500 to build a dam at each end of the lake to double the acreage and the depth of the original lake. The investment seemed worthwhile, because the Lake Club anglers had discovered something about Beaver Dam: it was a heck of a fishing hole.

Today, Beaver Dam is a popular state park, located seven miles south of Carlinville, about half-way between Springfield and St. Louis. The focal point of the 737-acre park is a 56-acre lake nestled in a hardwood forest on the site of the original beaver pond. And thanks to modern fisheries management, it's still a heck of a fishing hole.

Beaver Dam Lake is a "saddle lake" with a dam at each end. Average depth in the spring feed impoundment is 7.5 feet. In its waters anglers find populations of bluegill, crappie, channel catfish and large-mouth bass, which Charles Marbut, DOC fish and wildlife biologist, terms "fair to good."

The park has ample camping and picnicking facilities, a concession stand, boat rentals and a boat launch. No gasoline motors are allowed on the lake, but electric trolling are welcome.

According to Matt Tuet, site superintendent, first at Horseshoe Lake here and now at Beaver Dam, the lake attracts a large influx of fishermen, particularly on weekends. On weekends, the lake will host up to 30 or 40 boat anglers and an equal number lining the shores.

"That's a lot of fishing pressure on a lake this size," Tuet said.

The object of this obsession primarily is bluegill, the fish for which Beaver Dam is noted. Beaver Dam's bluegills are large and numerous, and they hit well for experienced fishermen. Beaver Dam bluegill average one-third of a pound and are taken most often on crickets or red wigglers, the universal baits bluegill seem to favor. Most are taken from weed beds and around fish attractors. The popular sunfish normally start hitting in May and continue to bite well into July before slackening off. Bluegill fishing usually picks up again in September and October.

"Historically, it's a good bluegill lake," Tuet said. But the better stringers are taken by the better anglers. Crappie, which hit minnows and jigs throughout April, May, September and October, present an even greater challenge. The average Beaver Dam crappie weighs a half-pound and usually is creel from weed beds or tree top fish attractors. But, according to Tuet, there is no identifiable "hot sport" for crappie.

"It's a matter of finding the fish and working for them," he said. "It's just where the fish happen to be that day. The better fishermen will catch fish. For the beginner, bluegill is probably a better bet." Beginning this month, channel catfish take over as the most sought after species at Beaver Dam. Channel catfish are stocked regularly at Beaver Dam as part of DOC's management program, since the cats do not reproduce in the lake. An additional stocking is slated this fall if fingerling catfish are available. Some of the cats from earlier stockings have grown into good size fish.

Off the peninsula and near fish attractors, channel catfish anglers can reel fish averaging from 1.5 to three pounds on worms, stinkbaits, cheesebaits and shad guts. A few lucky fishermen have taken catfish weighing as much as seven or eight pounds.

Like most state-managed lakes, Beaver Dam has a special creel limit of six channel catfish daily.

Recently, fishing for largemouth bass picked up at Beaver Dam, Tuet said. The bass population at Beaver Dam is small and many of the individual fish are under 12 inches in length. However, there are a few nice bass ranging from one to three pounds and an occasional five to six pounder. Currently, largemouths are hitting plastic worms, Tuet said. As the season progresses, they will favor a variety of specific baits.

"Largemouths are particular about what baits they will take," Tuet said. "People who fish this lake a lot know which baits to fish when."

Early in the summer, largemouths normally hit spinner baits worked near the weed beds. Later, they prefer buzz baits.

If determining which baits Beaver Dam bass will hit is difficult, finding them is no easier. In early morning and late evening, both boat and bank anglers work the shoreline. During the day, especially in warm weather, bass prefer the cooler, deep areas of the lake and occasionally will hit a deep diving plug.

There virtually are no incidental species in Beaver Dam. A minor carp population exists and a three to six pounder occasionally is taken by an angler fishing for another species.

The key to fishing Beaver Dam successfully appears to be experience; not only experience at fishing, but specific experience at fishing Beaver Dam. Anglers who know the lake and know how to fish it generally are successful.

"Down at the concession stand," Tuet said, "one guy will come in and say, 'Where's the fish?' and another guy will come in right after that and have a basketful. The good fishermen catch fish."

Tax breaks will vary

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Get big a break will Quad-Cityans from the lower tax rates set for this summer's collection? It depends on a number of factors, but Granite City and Chouteau townships may fare the best because their assessment multipliers are lower than a year ago.

As disclosed June 21 in the Press-Record, most local rates are down, and some of them are sharply lower.

Madison County's property multiplier remains 1.0—a non-multiplier. So, the erratic township multipliers—along with the ups and downs of individual real estate valuations—will determine whether or not the rates cuts will mean actual tax reductions.

Township multipliers have dropped from 1.269 to 1.1513 in Granite City and from 1.2146 to 1.1976 in Chouteau Township, which includes the Mitchell area.

Multipliers have risen, meanwhile, from 1.4275 to 1.1605 in Venice Township, which takes in Venice and Madison, and from a negative .9633 to 1.1187 in Nameoki Township.

Town multipliers are prone to big changes from year to year because of a three-year averaging method required by the state government, assessment officials say.

Rates, which are applied against one's assessment to determine the amount of the yearly tax bill, have just decreased for many Quad-Cityans—especially Madisonians, whose rate for this summer's collection decreased a total of 9.3 cents, from more than $2 to $1.09 on each $100 of valuation.

City Comptroller Al Hudzik has explained that with utility taxes now providing substantial revenue for Madison—the city levied only for library expenses, playgrounds, pensions and liability insurance. It omitted the general, street, garbage, lighting, police and fire taxes.

"If our valuation had remained $12 million, we expected the $2.04 rate to drop 40 percent to $1.24. The additional 18-cent rate decrease stems from the 1.1605 multiplier which increased the assessment total to $14 million," Hudzik noted.

Other new rate decreases included: Madison schools, down 26.5 cents. Special Service Area 1 sewers, down 17.2 cents.

City of Granite City, down 15.2 cents. Metro East sanitary district, down 10.7 cents.

Chouteau township, down 6.4 cents. City of Venice, down 5.5 cents. Granite City township, down 5 cents.

Venice schools, down 4.8 cents. Chouteau roads, down 4.4 cents. County government, down 3.5 cents.

Granite City parks, down 2.3 cents. State Park fire district, down 1.6 cent.

Belleview Area College, down 1.4 cent. Nameoki roads, down 1.2 cent. Venice town roads, down 1.1 cent. State Park street lighting, down .8 of a cent.

And Miracle Manor-Bellemore Place street lighting, down .5 cent. Ponton Beach does not levy a village property tax.

Unchanged this year were the fire district tax rates of Mitchell and Long Lake.

Four local real estate tax rates increased for the 1981 tax year (collection in 1982):

- Venice township, up 7 of a cent.
- Venice parks, up 8 cent.
- Granite City schools, up 9 cent.
- And Nameoki township, up 7.3 cents.

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles computed the rates from governing bodies' tax levies, after final assessments and multipliers were determined.

The rates next were applied against property owners' valuations to guide the computation of tax bills. The county clerk said:

"A home assessed in the park district and city of Granite City for $10,000 (representing $30,000 actual value) will be taxed $637.30.

"This $637.30 will be distributed among the taxing districts as follows: Schools $338, the city government $145, Madison County $20.90, Metro-East Sanitary $29.10, Granite City township $28.30, the park district $20.80 and the sewer college $16.20.

"In the city and park district of Venice, a house with a $10,000 valuation will be taxed $708.50 for the following: Venice community unit school district $347.20, city of Venice $178, county $59.90, Venice township $41.40, sanitary district $29.10, Venice parks $24.30, Belleville Area College $18.20 and township roads $10.40.

"The official new tax rates on each $100 valuation follow:

Cities—Venice $1.78, Granite City $1.43 and Madison $1.09.3.

Schools—Venice $5.47.2, Granite City $3.38 and Madison $2.33.6.

Township general and relief costs—Venice 41.4 cents, Nameoki 34, Granite City 28.3 and Chouteau, 14.2.

Road and bridge programs—Chouteau 35.2 cents, Nameoki 33.4 and Venice (Venice-Madison area), 10.4 cents.

Parks—Venice 24.3 cents and Granite City, 20.8.

Fire fighting districts—Long Lake 30.2 cents, Mitchell 30 and State Park, 28.4.

Street lighting—State Park Place 24.2 cents and Miracle Manor-Bellemore Place, 12.

Sanitary sewers in parts of Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships—$11.2.

County—59.9 cents. Sanitary district—29.1 cents.

And the multi-county Belleville Area College district—18.2 cents.

Township multipliers were ordered by the Madison County Board of Review as a way of assuring the continued absence of a state-set multiplier for the entire county.

Announcement of the 1.0 final property assessment equalization factor for Madison County was made by J. Thomas Johnson, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Johnson said, "The equalization factor, often called the multiplier, is a method used to achieve uniform property assessments among counties.

"Equalization is particularly important because of this state's 6,600 local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties. Examples are certain school districts, community college districts and fire protection districts.

"If there was no equalization among counties, major inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result.

"Under a law passed in 1975, property in Illinois should be assessed at one-third of its market value.

"Farm property, incidentally, is assessed differently. Farm homesites and dwellings are subject to regular assessing and equalization procedures. But farmland and buildings are valued at one-third of their agricultural economic value, and are not subject to state assessments in Madison County.

Assessments in Madison County are at 33.57 percent of market value, based on sales of properties in 1978, 1979 and 1980.1 Johnson stressed.

"The new equalization factor, again 1.0, has been assigned to this county for 1981 taxes payable in 1982. The final factor issued after a public hearing on the tentative figure.

"The tentative factor issued in February for Madison County was 1.1192, prompting the establishment of township multipliers again this year.

"The equalization factor is determined annually for each county by comparing the price of individual properties sold over the past three years to the assessed values placed on those properties by county assessment officials.

"If this three-year average level of assessment is one-third of market value, the equalization will be 1.0.

"If the average level of assessment is greater than one-third, the factor will be less than 1.0. And if the average assessment level is less than a third of value, the multiplier will be greater than 1.0.

"A change in the multiplier does not mean automatically that total property tax bills will increase or decrease," Johnson emphasized.

"Taxes are determined by local taxing bodies when they request money each year to provide services to local citizens.

"If the amount requested by local taxing districts is not greater than the amount received in the previous year, then total property taxes will not increase even if assessments may have risen.

"The assessed value of an individual property determines what portion of the tax burden a specific taxpayer will assume. That individual's portion of tax responsibility is not changed by the multiplier.

The local county's current realty assessments total $1,494,037,490.

In contrast to Madison County's non-multiplier, Johnson has certified for Cook County a final 1981 multiplier of 1.8548.

Total assessments for the Chicago-area county were $18,006,000,000, nearly $444 million less than the original assessments; the reductions were due to appeals from property owners.

The three-year average level of assessments weighted by class for all property in Cook County was 17.97 percent, including 20.02 percent for 1978, followed by 17.20 percent for 1979 and 16.59 percent for 1980.

Revenue Department statistics show that median assessment levels in all 102 Illinois counties for this summer's collection of taxes varied from 8.91 percent to 34.18 percent of market value, requiring multipliers ranging from a high of 3.7407 in Pope County to a low of .9753 in Crawford County.

Fourteen counties have been issued 1.0 multipliers so far.

Owner-occupied residential property throughout Illinois is eligible for a general homestead exemption of $3,000 in equalized assessed valuation over the 1977 value (1978 collection).

In addition, senior citizens are eligible for another $1,500 exemption, and how much money can be saved by citizens qualify for "circuit breaker" tax relief.

Today, she says, "I usually have a box or two in the freezer. My favorite kind is the Savannahs."

Today's Girl Scout cookies still are just as important to the organization, but now they are baked by a national company and they are packaged in boxes with photographs that depict the Girl Scouts' way of life.

Brinkley has held almost every position available in Girl Scouting. She has served as consultant, organizer, director of chamber, board of directors and treasurer.

"It's very gratifying to be a Girl Scout and a good way to make friends," said Brinkley. "I believe that Girl Scouts are a special breed of people," she added.

Once Brinkley was selected as a national representative for a Girl Scout camp with the help of the United States Army. "My train was four hours late and I missed the bus that was to take me to the camp. The town I was stranded in was dead as a door nail. At night they take the side walks in," laughed Brinkley.

"I had to walk up a hill to a police station and was relaxing when I heard this strange sound. It seemed as though it was getting closer and closer to me. All of a sudden, an Army chopper landed and someone jumped out and said they were here to pick up Arline Brinkmeyer," the "special passenger" recalled.

"They strapped me in the chopper and we took off, skimming across the lakes and the pine trees until we arrived at camp at 9 p.m. After the chopper took off, I realized that I had lost my duffle bag. One by one, Girl Scouts that I didn't even know started bringing in items for me to use during the camp," said Brinkley.

All the camp girls were from different countries and spoke different languages, but, according to Brinkley, there was no communications barrier. "A warm hand to hold and a friendly smile is enough," said Mrs. Brinkmeyer.

Throughout her years, Brinkley has earned many medals. She has achieved the highest medal offered, the friendship medal.

"I can proudly say that I've visited every Girl Scout world center except the one in India. I've been to the ones in Mexico, London and Switzerland," said Brinkley.

In 1968, Mrs. Brinkmeyer was visiting Mexico while the Olympics were taking place. Mrs. Brinkmeyer became deathly ill while watching a swimming meet and was put in the Olympic hospital. "I was so afraid to die and so afraid not to die. The doctors were mainly Spanish speaking, but, once again, all I needed was a smile and a warm hand for reassurance," said Brinkley.

While she was in the hospital, athletes from all over the world came in and gave her friendship medals. Mrs. Brinkmeyer made a necklace out of all of her medals.

Out of all of her experiences in scouting, including world travel and high positions, Brinkley confesses that she enjoyed being a Girl Scout leader best of all. "I always enjoyed working directly with the girls, that's the most rewarding part of Girl Scouting."

Mrs. Brinkmeyer was honored at the Granite City Township Hall this spring for her 50 years of service. At the dinner, she received a silver bowl.

Mrs. Brinkmeyer says that Girl Scouting today is different, but just as good. "They really keep up with the times. Girl Scouting offers so much to young girls that will equip them for day-to-day living," said Mrs. Brinkmeyer.

"The part of scouting I'll miss the most is not having regular contacts with friends. When something has been a part of you for so many years, you're bound to miss it," said Brinkley.

Council votes

The formal cut of the program would have to come in the form of an amendment to the city's final budget, Bowler said.

He noted that he made the suggestion to disband the local air pollution program and to forward the city hall temperature-control system in an effort to eat away at the $361,000 deficit projected during this estimated $11.3 million budget year.

The alderman cited deficit spending and lack of a balanced budget as the "nuts and bolts" figures affecting the public's acceptance of city spending.

The city is entering its third month without an approved budget, which must be settled by the end of this month.

The air pollution program, which has withered various attempts at disbandment during the past two years, now costs the city about $25,000 in a grant sharing arrangement with the state. A new heating and air conditioning system for city hall is set in the tentative budget at $40,000.

The actual savings which might result from the two anticipated cuts depend upon how successfully repairs keep the city hall heating system going and how much money can be saved by the elimination of the air pollution program when its only full-time employee might remain. The air pollution grant also supports a portion of the city engineer's salary.

Amid some controversy in Granite's industrial-based community, the air pollution program grew from an initial advisory board into a separate city department before shrinking to its present one full-time employee last year.

The grant eligibility program enjoyed during its department status was waived several times in the last 13 months since the department's manpower reductions.

Bowler said the city now must assume that the grant will not be renewed, according to a memo from City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic, stating that the state will not renew the contract, since the city has not complied with required inspections of the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer, acting as air pollution control director, said in an interview with the Press-Record yesterday that the city and the steel company were both still engaged in negotiating terms for the inspection and did not consider talks at an impasse.

Bowler said inspections at the plant are already being duplicated by the state. Brewer said a certain number of inspections are required, which may either be split between the city and state—as they now are—or may all be conducted by the state.

According to Brewer, the city is expected to conduct about 50 regular inspections a year, but that the previous air pollution director reached an agreement with the steel company to conduct only 10 yearly inspections.

Brewer said the state finds that number unacceptable, while the steel company is balking at proposals for increased visits.

Under a pending "bubble" emissions permit, the city would be expected to additionally inspect Granite City Steel roads for fugitive dust about four times a month.

No city inspections of the plant have been conducted since the upheaval in the air pollution staff here last summer.

If the air pollution control program here is disbanded, aldermen discussed shifting the remaining employee's time between inspection and sanitation duties.

Voicing for the motion to eliminate the program, besides Bowler, were Aldermen Stephen Salitch of the Sixth Ward; Jake Varadian and Margaret Nom, both of the Fifth Ward; Sharon Perjak and Warren Decatur, both of the Fourth Ward; Sam Whitmer, Second Ward, and Casmer Skubish, First Ward.

Aldermen Paul Fisk, Third Ward, and Michael Modrusie, Seventh Ward, were not present. Mayor Paul Schuler, a supporter of the program, also was absent.

Alderman Walter Milton of the Sixth Ward argued in favor of the tentative budget as it stands, and said he feels that, despite the deficit projection, the budget actually may break even.

Bowler cited the past history of certain departments in overspending their budgets and doubted the city's budget will come close to a balanced figure by the end of next April.

Workers asked

National Steel has said it will no longer pay for new equipment and is offering the plant for sale to Weirton employees.

According to a statement issued by Granite City Steel prior to this week's meetings, the company asked workers to attend "to keep employees informed and to encourage them to consider ideas for improving costs."

If those willing to talk to reporters yesterday are indicative of the feelings of the majority of Granite City Steel employees, they are not only willing to consider ideas for improving costs, but are prepared to make some sacrifices, if necessary, to preserve their jobs and ensure the future of Granite City Steel.

Boothe avenges earlier loss, downs GC Legionnaires 10-6

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Less than two weeks ago, the Granite City Junior Americans of the North (St. Louis) County League shut out Thoman Boothe 6-0 Tuesday evening. The Missouri club avenged the loss, defeating Granite City 10-6.

Despite their loss, Granite City, now 6-5 in the North County League, still leads Boothe 6-6 by half a game.

"We're not playing good ball at all tonight," Granite City coach Dave Coakley said midway through the fourth inning.

Coakley blamed his team's lackluster performance on the recent layoff during the Fourth of July weekend.

"We didn't have any games or practices during the weekend. Now I'm afraid the layoff is killing us," Coakley said. Granite City's last game was against Ferguson on June 30 — a game they won at the with aggressive play.

That aggressive play was missing from Granite City's lineup Tuesday evening. Boothe out scored (10-6), out hit (9-4) and committed less errors (3-6) than their Granite City adversaries.

It is Aaron Franzen's, Thoman Boothe's coach, contention that his team won, not because of Granite City's lesser performance, but because his team played so much better.

"We played well recently, and we continue to play well," Franzen said. "We lost five games initially, but we've come back to win our last four."

"We didn't have any games or practices during the weekend. Now I'm afraid the layoff is killing us."

Franzen said. "We're playing better offensively — our hitting's been coming along," Franzen said.

That Boothe offensive played havoc in the first inning as their bats resounded to tag starting Granite City pitcher Jimmy Burton for three runs on as many hits.

Granite City managed to narrow the point spread in their half of the third inning as they mustered two runs to trail 3-2.

James Moad led off the inning when he reached on an error by shortstop Tim Callahan. Eric Goff moved Moad to second when grounded to Boothe hurler Jeff Smith. Smith panicked, however, throwing the ball over, advancing Moad to third and Booker to second.

Greg Nemeth rose to the occasion as he singled a one and two pitch scoring Moad and Goff.

All of the five remaining Granite City batters reached base one way or another in the inning — their problems arose on the basepaths.

Just when it seemed as though this would be the inning when the hometown boys would take charge, two Granite City runners were nailed on the baselines. Greg Nemeth was forced out at home, while Dan Witsell was picked off at third trying to advance on the play at the plate. Burton, who reached on a walk, was left stranded.

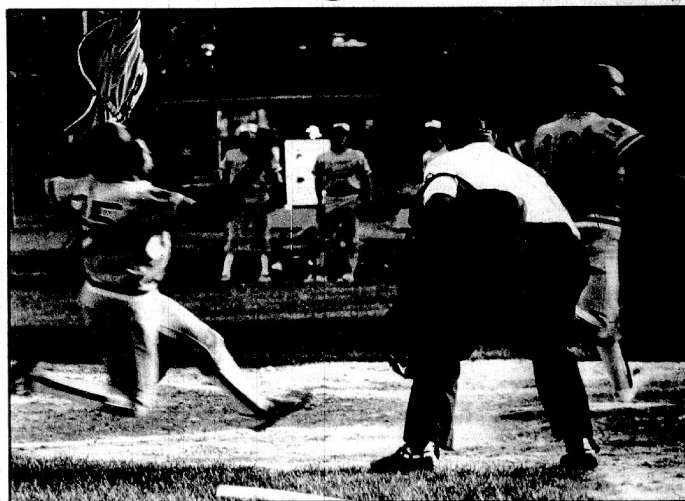

Just as quickly as Granite City managed to close the gap, Boothe slammed the door in the fourth inning scoring four runs on two hits to take a 7-2 lead. These four runs later turned out to be Boothe's margin of victory.

Boothe picked up a run in each of the final three innings, while Granite City mustered four runs in the fifth inning on two hits.

E. St. Louis downs Glen Carbon by 'two feet'

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Glen Carbon American Legion baseball team lost to East St. Louis last night by two feet.

The game, played at the Granite City High School North field, could be more aptly described in terms of such distances than by the 3-1 score. Going eight innings, it all came down to who got the big hit and Glen Carbon just barely missed.

East St. Louis came up in the eighth and scored two runs. During Glen Carbon's half, Carl Luehmann came up with Brian Corey on first after he hit a single. Luehmann hit a deep center, but the East St. Louis centerfielder was positioned for a long fly and made the catch.

"If that ball in center field had gone a couple more feet we would have won the ball game," Larry Corey, Glen Carbon coach, said.

It certainly had to be a let down for the Glen Carbon players who held East St. Louis until the sixth when the first run of the game was scored.

Much of the credit goes to Sam Tate, who pitched well last night. Tate held East Side to two hits until the sixth when they broke loose at the bases.

Tate also had a lot of defensive help. Both the infield and outfield played exceptional baseball without error. As he warmed up before the game, Tate expressed concern that East St. Louis was a tough team. His fears, however, proved to be unfounded as Glen Carbon matched the opposition in play and seemed to do so without effort.

Brian Corey, Glen Carbon first baseman, mentioned East St. Louis' base running expertise as a factor in the game. It was not really until the sixth, however, that these skills were shown.

The inning pout Glen Carbon's defense to test when Dooley Chandler singled to left and was followed by a bunt along the first baseline by Vince Edwards. Glen Carbon catcher Vince Mitchell, made an excellent play getting Edwards at first. But Chandler, who had a good jump on the bunt, rounded second as Edwards checked him before making the play. Chandler did not hesitate even a split second and went to third.

With two outs, Jim Sinovich hit a blooper right between short and left to drive Chandler in.

Despite the East St. Louis lead, Glen Carbon came to bat in the seventh with much vigor and tied the score. Mitchell walked and with two out, designated hitter, Mike Eaves, doubled to left to tie the game.

Again in the eighth, East St. Louis went wild on the bases. Art Gray stole second and third. Then Edwards was nearly self-sufficient. Basketball player, Jack Anthony, singled to bring them both in.

Not to be overshadowed by the runs, the Glen Carbon defense came to life.

Luehmann made a good catch in center on a potential hit by Sinovich. Anthony had rounded second before Luehmann caught the ball. Without hesitation, Luehmann threw to first for the double play. His throw was high, but Corey picked it off in the air and came down on the bag.

He allowed four hits. East St. Louis pitcher, Bernard Bedford, allowed Glen Carbon the same.

Larry Corey still seemed concerned with Glen Carbon's hitting although he said he thought the team played well.

"We didn't hit well," he said, but mentioned Eaves' double in the seventh as "big hit."

He also credited Tate for pitching well.

"We played well defensively," he said.

So well, in fact that it all came down to two feet.

Glen Carbon plays tonight in an away game against East Alton at 6 p.m. A rain game has been rescheduled for 5 p.m. Sunday at North against Bethalto.

Paddlers routinely win third

Gayle McCormick, Paddlers' diving coach, and Celeste Sonnenberg, the winning coach, were concerned before the season started that Summer Haven, a new team from St. Louis, Mo. was going to be difficult to beat. Summer Haven has a large squad of swimmers and the two coaches had not seen them perform in any events.

But Tuesday night, the two women found that Summer Haven is not all that much to worry about as Paddlers' added its third consecutive wins in as many meets, taking both the swimming and diving competitions.

The diving team won 50-11 and the swimming team won 412-214, setting 19 records.

Mrs. McCormick said the divers did well considering the type of board the Summer Haven club has. Most of the Paddlers' divers are accustomed to only a duraflex board opposed to the fiberglass type they competed from at Summer Haven.

"They had to warm up for practically 45 minutes," she said of her team. Despite the longer than usual warm-up session everyone dove well.

In boy's 10 and under, Bill McCormick and Larry Curry took first and second, respectively.

Jenny Baker won the girl's division in that age group.

In boy's 11 and 12, Mike McCormick won and Tom Senecyn took second.

In the girl's 11 and 12, Chris Doniff placed first and Wendy Knollman second. Mike Doniff won that age group for the boys.

In girl's 13 and 14, Heather Crane placed first and Michelle Loftus placed second.

In girl's 15 to 17, Kathy Zuegnig placed first and Lisa Lillye came in second.

The swimming team's performance surprised Miss Sonnenberg. "I can't believe it," she said.

She had anticipated the meet would be decided by only 40 or so points.

Swimming & Diving

"They're working real hard," she said of the swimmers.

Miss Sonnenberg has been stressing that the swimmers cannot go out trying to beat teams, but instead must work toward the championships on Aug. 7.

The swimmers have approached this task by memorizing all the existing Paddlers' records and working toward bettering those times. "They swam last night to beat the records. That really takes the pressure off," Miss Sonnenberg said. Because the swimmers do not try to beat a particular person, but concentrate on improving times, she said they feel less strain during a meet.

Cougars eye Division I status

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's entrance into a newly-formed athletic conference has been delayed primarily because of the university's National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II status, according to Ed Bigham, athletic director. The university is now classified as a Division II independent school and does not belong to a conference.

The possibility that SIUE might change its status to Division I has been considered in the past, but has created controversy because the sport given the most emphasis in that classification is basketball. The university has had a series of losing seasons in basketball and presently does not have a gymnasium although a multi-purpose facility is under construction. Basketball games are played at local high schools.

The 11 universities, three of which are in Illinois, that joined the Association for Mid-Continent Universities Conference in June all have Division I status and if SIUE joined immediately, "it would be expected that we would move toward Division I," Bigham said.

The problem is not that SIUE is shy away from Division I status, but that the change cannot be made quickly as the NCAA requires a two-year period in which a school must meet specific eligibility requirements.

Bigham said that SIUE is in the process of "retooling" its athletic program to meet those requirements. In order to become eligible for the status change, incoming players can be recruited only if they meet certain academic standards and the basketball schedule must include Division I competition in all but two games.

The criticism which Bigham apparently believes is unfounded, has been centered on the change needed in the basketball schedule. Opponents of the status change do not believe SIUE can compete against Division I schools under the present circumstances.

Bigham maintains that it is necessary to bring Division I schools to play SIUE in order to draw larger crowds, thereby increasing gate receipts which would lead to having a nearly self-sufficient basketball program. An eventual status change also would bring better caliber athletes to SIUE.

"You aren't going to come out to see Osh Kosh U.," Bigham said. Fans would, however, attend games against Western Illinois University and Eastern Illinois University, both of which have joined the new conference. The new conference mainly will concern itself with basketball, but Bigham said there would be competition and championship titles in other sports. Presently, the conference exists only for men's athletics, "but they're certainly discussing expanding it to include women's athletics," Bigham said.

Presently, SIUE athletic officials are reviewing the needs of the university to determine if switching status and changing from an independent are the best options for the university.

It does appear, however, that changing to Division I status might be the wisest move for SIUE as few other Illinois schools have Division II classification.

Division II is almost a dying division. If we stay where we are we're going backwards," Bigham said.

More universities have made the transition because of "money and prestige," he said.

The possibility of changing divisions and joining a conference is a source of excitement for Bigham, who does not see much merit in SIUE remaining as an independent. "We'd be hard pressed to find a conference any better," he said. Entering a conference also would give SIUE a chance to develop rivalries with EIU and WIU.

Continued participation as an independent will not, however, hurt SIUE's chances of competing against those schools, the University of Illinois — Chicago Circle, which also joined the conference, or any other Division I school.

SIUE clearly can compete with Division I schools, he said. He mentioned soccer, tennis and golf especially and believes SIUE can hold its own in other sports.

But for now, the athletic department must be content to remain an independent before making a decision about joining the conference.

Linhart's catch edges Collinsville 4-3

By JEFF WILSON
for the Press-Record

The question of the evening left a bitter taste of defeat in the mouths of Collinsville Post 365 players at Granite City South last night.

Ex-Tri-City left field job Linhart made the catch on Glenn Hefflin's sinking liner in the seventh inning or did he trap it, as Collinsville attempted to tie the score at its last at bat?

Linhart said he caught. Tri-City manager Al Yount thought Linhart made the grab, and more importantly, the second base umpire ruled that Linhart made the catch.

But the most vehement of all the protestors was Collinsville manager Fred McClary. He was angry that the umpire didn't run out to see Linhart's attempt.

McClary thought the Seventh inning disputed catch lifts Triplets to victory umpires blew the call, and his Collinsville team was handed a 4-3 loss.

"It's a heck of a way to lose when two umpires can't see a boy drop the ball," McClary said.

With Brett Holten running for Kent Vartanian, who had walked with one out, Hefflin lined a shot that appeared destined to the left center fielder gap, but Linhart ranged for it to make the shoe top catch and prevent Holten from advancing past second. Then the argument began.

McClary argued that Linhart trapped the ball that Yount said. "I think he caught it, but Fred has a legitimate gripe. The umpire didn't hustle out to see the play."

The reason the play meant so much was the go ahead run. Tri-City scored in the bottom of the sixth. With one out Rick Daily tripled to center. One out later, catcher Daren Depew single over second baseman's Vartanian's glove into right to give Tri-City a 4-3 lead.

For most of the middle innings it looked as if the game wouldn't be finished, as a steady drizzle fell. That drizzle, accompanied by some spotting pitching by regular first baseman George Jarvis, helped Collinsville to an early lead. Collinsville's record fell to 10-5 in league play, 14-5 overall, while Tri-City boosted its district 22 mark to 6-6.

Civics, Lafayette Browns tie 4-4, now 13-13-1

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The outlook was bright for the Southwestern Illinois Civics baseball team as it entered the final inning of its game at Cougar Field last night leading the West County Browns of St. Louis, 4-1, and needing just three outs to post their 14th victory in a 13-13 season to that point.

But, it wasn't to be: the bad luck which has dogged player-manager Bobby Hughes and the Civics again persisted. But, this time it resulted in a 4-4 tie game called both by darkness and rain which had just started falling.

It was a real heart-breaker for the Civics' chunky little righthander, Jeff Gass, former Belleville prep star hurler and standout mound ace for the Murray Kentucky U. Throughbreds.

The Browns' leadoff man in the seventh (the game was to be just seven frames because Cougar Field doesn't have lights and the game had started around 6:30 and the sky then was already overcast), shortstop Bill Buntion walked after fouling off two pitches with the count 3-2.

The next batter up, leadoff man Mike Suchan, rapped a routine grounder to the usual sure-fielding and accurate-throwing John (Cookie) Victorian at shortstop. His loss to Tim Gamble covering second, if on target, would have had Buntion out by a comfortable mile or more. But, the ball went crazily off of the second baseman's glove.

Next Brownie batter, Rich Wiener, fouled deep behind first base and Gamble made a fantastic catch. Gass got the next batter up to fly to Darrell Wehrend in left for the second out and the game looked safe for the Civics.

But, it wasn't to be. Clean up hitters are supposed to do just that and this time the Brownies' clean-up batter, Dave Thieler, who starred for Central Missouri State U. last year, hit Gass's first pitch over the right field fence as the Civics' right fielder, Bill Stolle, crashed into the steel wires in vain. It was Thieler's second hit of the game. And gave him three runs-batted-in, tops for both teams.

Since the Browns' first run was also unearned, Gass didn't allow a single earned run while fanning five and walking two.

Runs-batted-in were credited to four Civics' batters: Bill Stolle, Darrell Wehrend, Keith Hoskinson and Rusty Hilgenkamp. Tony Gasaway, catcher for the Browns, drove in the St. Louisans' tainted first run.

What was particularly sad about the tie game was the fact that the Civics appeared to have gained revenge for the 9-8 loss to the Browns, July 26th at Flo Valley College when a "bad call" in the final inning against the Civics permitted the Ed Gasaway managed nine to pull the game out.

The Civics had gone into the final frame with a three-run lead only to have the balls-and-strikes umpire

pre-empt "the call" from the official right on the play.

With runners at second and third and two outs, the batter lifted a high one, at least four feet foul and out of play. Since both runners were on the move, both crossed home plate when, to the dismay of the Civics, the umpire and chief signaled "fair" and incidentally, without asking for help from the official right at the site. The decision bought in the tying and winning runs.

The tied game leaves the Civics still struggling at a 13-13 clip, while the Browns are now 15-4-1.

However, the Civics will have another shot at the Browns: Sunday, July 18, they'll play them a twinnish at Alton's Gordon Park.

The immediate next two nights, the Civics will play

the Ohio state champions, the Cleveland Collegians, in single games, Thursday and Friday, both nine-inning games starting at 7:30 p.m.

Then Saturday, it will be a doubleheader against the Mt. Greenwood team of Chicago, one at SIUE's Cougar Field starting at 5 p.m., and then shifting to Edwardsville's Hoppe Field for the second clash at 8 p.m.

Sunday, the Civics will close a tough and busy week with a pair of games

down at Cape Girardeau against the always tough and troublesome Capahaws.

After that the Civics will have 12 more games to play.

Highland upsets Triplets; errors fatal

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

HIGHLAND — Highland's American Legion baseball team hasn't had the best of seasons, but they always seem to be ready when the Tri-City Legion team comes to town.

Highland's Steve Fenton pitched an excellent game, but he wasn't the reason why Highland defeated Tri-City 4-1 Tuesday in a District 22 game. Tri-City defeated the Triplets committed three errors and walked eight batters against Highland. The mistakes were particularly costly in the fourth and sixth innings.

"We just had too many walks and errors, and those really hurt us a lot," Tri-City manager Al Yount said. "We really died by the errors tonight."

Up to the fourth inning, Tri-City pitcher Mike Zukas pitched a no-hitter, but Jeff Gibbons hit a double to lead off the fourth inning. Gibbons' double proved to be the beginning of the end for Tri-

City.

After Gibbons' hit, Jay Rindner and Larry Lucco walked to load the bases. An error by Tri-City shortstop Mill Roe allowed Gibbons to Highland's sixth inning rally provided more of the same mistakes. Jim Bugger walked and Lucco followed him with a single. Jeff Schulte's grounder moved the runners to third and second to set up the runs.

A passed ball got past Tri-City catcher Daren DeWew and Bugger scored. Jeff Byers walked, and Zukas tried to pick him off at first.

Zukas overthrew first baseman George Jarvis, allowing Lucco to score and Byers to go to second. Mike Spies hit a double to score Byers.

Tri-City's only run came in the fifth inning. Roe hit a single and eventually scored on John Linhart's single.

After Roe scored, Linhart went to third and Don Paterson walked and advanced to second, but both runners were stranded. Stranding runners seemed to be a pastime for the Triplets Tuesday.

The Triplets stranded runners at second or third base in every inning but the seventh. In all, Tri-City left seven runners on base.

Fenton allowed Tri-City just four hits for the game while walking only four batters.

"The guy pitching for them did a pretty good job. He was keeping the ball low, and he was doing what he was supposed to be doing," Yount said.

Zukas pitched a three-hitter for Tri-City with the only hit coming in the fourth and sixth innings.

Zukas and DeWew also did a good job of holding the runner on base. Zukas kept the runners close with his stretch motion. Zukas kept the runner on base in the air long enough to make taking too big of a lead a risky proposition.

Meanwhile, DeWew threw out two runners trying to steal second and picked off a runner at first base.

However, it was walks and errors which led to Tri-City's defeat.

"Mike was trying to overthrow the ball," Yount said. "Beside the fielding errors, we also made a few errors which may have hurt us a lot."

Yount also credited Highland for taking advantage of Tri-City's errors.

"They deserve the credit for winning this game. They did everything they were supposed to do, and they took advantage of our mistakes."

"They don't have a very good record right now, but their record doesn't show that they are a good ball team. I know they always play Tri-City hard. There seems to be a rivalry between the two teams."

Tri-City plays at Alton Saturday at 4 p.m. and plays Highland again Sunday at Granite City South's field.

Steve Kinser won the All Star Circuit of Champions Sprint Car feature event Monday night at Tri-City Speedway in Granite City.

Kinser having second fast time behind last qualifier Jack Holdenchild started the 30-lap grind on the one-half mile dirt track in the third row inside.

At the drop of the green flag it was Kenny Schrader who grabbed the lead and held on until lap 10, 15 when young Jack Holdenchild took over and led until lap 18.

At that point Kinser took over and went all the way for the $2,000 first place win.

On Lap No. 19 Gary White hit the outside rail, but was unhurt. It was Kinser Holdenchild, Jack Hewitt and Kenny Schrader in that order when the yellow came out.

There were 23 cars qualified for the big event. Kinser from Bloomington, Ind., was driving the Kinser Bros. Geantie engine powered Gambler chassis No. 11.

The first heat race was won by Jack Holdenchild with Jack Hewitt second and Randy Sandridge third.

The second heat went to Steve Kinser, Dave Kinser and third was Kenny Schrader.

In the third heat, went to Jim Moughan, followed by Ron Standridge and Dave Blaney. The fourth heat went to Gary Easton followed by Fred Linder and Randy Durbin. The feature event went to Steve Kinser. Jack Hewitt, Jack Holdenchild, Dave Blaney, fifth Kenny Schrader, sixth Lee Osborn, seventh Rich Vogler, eighth John Stevenson, ninth Todd Blaney, 10th Fred Linder.

All 24 drivers were introduced before the feature time and escorted to their cars and given a good luck kiss by Miss Karen Myracle, the special Tri-City Speedway's Trophy Girl.

This Saturday night, July 10th will be the late model stock car and sprint car make-up night out features. Plus the regular program of late models, sprints, mini-sprints, and street stocks plus a big demolition derby.

For more information call Dennis Scott 797-6579.

32 teams ready for state softball tourney

The Illinois Amateur Softball Association is sponsoring its third annual Class A State Women's Slow Pitch Tournament in Granite City on July 9, 10 and 11.

"The tournament has been held in Fairview (Heights) the last two years, but there are more teams from Granite than any other city and the girls wanted to play in their own city," said Raymond Hoffman, assistant vice president of the Illinois Amateur Softball Association.

There are 32 teams total and seven from Granite City. All games will be played at Wilson Park at diamond numbers 5, 6, 7 and 8. Diamond number 5 is located on the corner of Fehling Road and State Street, 6 is near the ice rink and 7 and 8 are near State Street. On the left of the brackets is the date of the game and the diamond number.

The tournament will be double elimination. The first game in the tourney starts at 7 p.m. tomorrow and the final championship game is to begin at 8 p.m. Sunday. The winner and runner up of the tourney will advance to the Midwest Regionals in Fort Wayne, Ind. August 21 and 22. The winner and runner up of the regionals advance to the National Tournament in Nashville, Tenn. September 3, 4, 5 and 6.

"Last year Astro Travel, a Granite City team, advanced to the regionals in Indianapolis, Ind.," said Hoffman.

The hosts teams for the event are Granite City Merchants, Rainbow Ice Cream, Nameoki Village and Al's 520 Club.

Sports of All Sorts

Renaissance, Connors are pride of area

By AL BARNES

This section of the St. Louis metropolitan area has many good reasons to feel pride in its athletic abilities down through the years. Jimmy Connors' spine-tingling victory over John McEnroe, Sunday at England's hallowed Center Court at Wimbledon for the championship of the World's most prestigious tennis championship was either No. 1 or No. 2 for Granite City and its role in the development of the Belleville Blaster.

The other choice for One or Two contender for Sports Success is the tremendous record posted by the Renaissance team in the May Legate Memorial Classic League bowling competition which ended just recently (April).

The hosts teams for the event are Granite City Merchants, Rainbow Ice Cream, Nameoki Village and Al's 520 Club.

John, who was good on the tennis court but also liked other sports, was unwilling to make the sacrifice to daily, dual practice sessions (almost) like the regimen required of a classic concert pianist so Mrs. Connors switched her hopes for a future-world tennis champion to that of sibling Jimmy who took to the court game like the proverbial duck to water.

Granite City's part in the development of Jimmy Connors came about when Mrs. Connors sought help in providing her son with the daily practice sessions required to develop the needed to become a champion.

Mrs. Connors lined up a number of local tennis players who agreed to help her in the development of her son by simply hitting with Jimmy by the hour on various parts of his game: today, his backhand, tomorrow his return of serve from the right or left side for dull hour after hour. And on and on. To my knowledge all of us were glad to help out: Mike Barnes, Dave Moss and myself just to name a few, all spent hundreds of hours hitting with Jimmy.

His dedication and eventual development into a tennis champion was all that any of us asked and wanted. Jimmy Connors' story has been fully noted by the local and national press, but the bowling success of the Renaissance team has been the best kept secret since the Atom Bomb.

The members of the Renaissance, with their average shown, are: Steve (216) Landys, Randy (232) Choat, Terry (230) Clark, Dan (222.8) Huniak and Andrian (225) Cahill.

Their 1108 team average, Hi-Game 1271 and Hi-Series of 3611 were simply sensational and deserving of much more recognition than they got. Again it appears that if the record isn't posted by a St. Louis aggregation or individual then "it ain't much."

Choat, an unofficial spokesman for the local bowling team, was miffed about the lack of national recognition and "no ink" from both the Globe and Post, but appeared resigned about it.

"Our results were either 1, 2 or 3 in the U.S. In any other sports we would have been recognized," said Choat. This reporter was unable to get anyone in the St. Louis Bowling establishment to either comment on the record or even to return my calls.

Three of the Renaissance Team bowlers were in the season's top five high bowlers in High Games: No. 3 was Choat's 288, Clark's 288 and Cahill's 286.

Choat was asked to put his and his teammates' record in perspective to other sports so that the non-bowler could understand just what they had accomplished.

Frowning and wrinkling his brow, he answered: "It's not too far off from a hitter hitting back-to-back-to-back home runs and that at the major league level."

Back to Jimmy Connors: I for one writes the story in Monday's Globe-Democrat written by John Husar of the Globe and Chicago Tribune News Service suggesting that McEnroe quit in his Wimbledon match with the Belleville ace.

Anyone who watched the nail-biting five-set duel between McEnroe and Connors Sunday knows that McEnroe didn't quit; he was simply beaten by a man who wanted the world's tennis crown more than he did. To me, Jimmy's greeting on TV to his mother back home in Belleville was very touching and a telling gesture. And watching her above and beaming her approval was the visage of Mommy Two, Jimmy's grandmother and Gloria's mother.

Another personal note from this department: I've long maintained that Jimmy Connors, if he is to consistently beat the Top 20 players, he must serve and come in behind his serve. I firmly believe that his lack of two losses to the Swede (we won't mention his name since he couldn't make it to the tournament) would have taken place if he would have followed his serve in more often.

Nevertheless, Congrats Jimmy and Randy Choat and your teammates.

Legislation to aid state chartered loan associations

Governor James R. Thompson has signed legislation that will allow state-chartered savings and loan associations in Illinois to remain competitive with federally chartered savings and loan associations.

"This measure will give state-chartered savings and loan associations the incentive to remain under state charter. If we had not enacted this change in state law, many savings and loan associations would have applied for federal charter. This bill now puts state-chartered associations on parity with those that are federally chartered," the Governor said.

Warren Punsell, Executive Vice President of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, said, "This is probably the most significant action his year to strengthen the dual system of state and federally chartered savings and loan associations."

Currently, state-chartered savings and loan associations must report financial conditions in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Therefore, if a state-chartered savings and loan wants to discount low-yielding mortgages and sell those mortgages, it must take the entire loss from the sales in the year sold. This could force an institution to raise its reserves to cover the losses.

Federal rules allow federally-chartered associations to spread these losses over the life of the mortgage and not force a reserves increase. The change in the state law also makes this change. The measure, House Bill 1651, was sponsored by Dwight Friedrich of Centralia and George Sangmeister of Mokena. It becomes effective immediately.

Thompson also signed House Bill 2286, which changes the salary base for judges retirement benefits in response to the recently signed legislation providing for pay increases for judges.

The measure bases retirement benefits on the average salary in the final year rather than on the final salary level itself. This will prevent judges from retiring immediately after receiving the July 1 pay raise in order to collect a higher pension, and ensures the benefits are based on a salary level that is realistically based on actual service.

The bill was sponsored by Representative Art Telser and Senator John D'Arco, both of Chicago.

In addition the Governor approved House Bill 3006, which transfers submerged land to the Chicago Park District from the state for improvements of harbor and park facilities. The land is at the mouth of the Calumet River.

In the event a contract for the construction of a landfill site is entered into, the Calumet River and Calumet Harbor would be dredged to provide better access for large ships to the Chicago port. The material from the dredging would be deposited in the landfill, which could then become a 40-acre park site.

2 CURFEW CHARGES
Two Granite City boys, aged 15, arrested last week near 16th and State streets for violating the curfew law, were released later that day to their parents on notices to return later for hearings. An investigation is continuing on reports of a parked auto being tampered with in that area.

12 attend assembly

Twelve women from Central Christian Church (Disciples of God) attended the Seventh International Christian Women's Fellowship Quadrennial Assembly at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind., June 21 through June 25. About 5,000 women represented the denomination from across the country.

The theme of the conference was "hope for the journey" and its purpose was "to explore the faith we claim, to risk new paths with courage, and to seek ways of sharing life in the global community."

The women took a latch-hook rug that was made by members of the church's Christian Women's Fellowship as a replica of the stained glass window in the sanctuary.

Organ Pedalers host barbecue

Amateur Organists Association International Organ Pedalers held their June meeting and potluck barbecue last week at the home of Harvey and Fern House.

Burel Schmisser furnished the organ and members and guests enjoyed playing selections throughout the day.

Those attending included Burel Schmisser, Bill and Carolyn Belling and family, Glen and Betty Applegate, Helen Testerman, Elizabeth Novack, Emylee Alford, Alpha Bauer, Dorothy Alsop and Linda Atkinson and family.

The July meeting will be held at the National School of Music, 2100 Cleveland Blvd. on July 19 at 7 p.m. New members and guests are welcome to attend.

NAMED IN WARRANT

Investigating a dispute in the middle of the street in the 3900 block of Nameoki Drive involving three men last week, police took into custody Phillip E. Reed, 22, of 3048 Nameoki Drive. He had been sought on a 1981 St. Clair County warrant alleging driving with a suspended license.

The rug is about 40 feet long by four feet deep and emulates the Proverb, "wise people walk the road that leads upward to life."

The design contains the sun, representing its glory as a symbol of God, the sun's rays, symbolizing God's omnipresence, and a plant, symbolizing new life as rooted in the earth and bathed in rays of light from the eternal one.

Through the center section of the rug, winds the pathway connecting life on earth and eternal life which comes through Jesus Christ.

The rug presently is on display at the church after its trip to Purdue.

During the conference, the women attended various lectures, plays and dance performances, which were based on the theme and purpose of the event.

The women attending were: Marie Gordon, Beth Spengler; Myra Parrish; Peggy Gibbons; Doris Edwards; Bernice Fague; Luneta Durbin; Mary Billbre; Joyce Rutledge; Margaret Rutter; Doretha Rivenburgh and Madge Hanson.

Isaiah 40:11... "He shall feed his flock like a shepherd: He shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them to his bosom."

Our Saviour is called by many names throughout His Word, but perhaps the most pleasant to contemplate is the name, "The Good Shepherd." It is He of whom these words are spoken. It is He who leads and cares for the flock. It is He who gathers His lambs lovingly in His arms and carries them safely in His bosom.

He carries them... sometimes by keeping us from trials and testing. At times, by giving us just the right amount of faith that we need to stand.

In His bosom... Oh, what love, what tenderness, what a place of safety... In His bosom, none can reach us without first reaching Him. It is a place of perfect safety.

"Are you there?" In His bosom, under His care, He wants you there, today.

He will be accompanied by his wife, Patsy and daughter, Julia. They have just returned from missionary duty in Koudougou, Africa.

Special foster home sought

A special foster home is being sought in this area to care for Gordon, a twelve year old boy who was removed from his parents' home because of neglect.

Although he is a slow learner, Gordon is of normal intelligence, according to Gail Holzhausen, resource development supervisor with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. The middle child in a family of three, Gordon is active and has difficulty at times controlling his behavior.

Described as warm and friendly, he enjoys fishing, doing household chores and playing video games in his spare time. He is also fond of animals.

Gordon is about five feet tall, has light brown hair and blue eyes and weighs about 90 pounds.

Because of his behavioral difficulties, prospective foster parents should be willing to work closely with the school and with Department social workers, the supervisor said.

She explained that foster parents would receive additional compensation of up to $300 per month over the normal $235 monthly fee paid for the care of a 12-year-old as well as periodic relief through the use of department advocates and homemakers.

If no foster home is found, Gordon will be placed in an institution, Miss Holzhausen said.

The department is also recruiting foster parents for a new program called professional foster care. Foster parents in this program care for two teenagers of the same sex and are paid a total of $1,128 per month or $18.22 per day per child.

The children placed in professional foster homes have been truant from school, have run away from home and may have been involved in delinquent acts such as shop lifting and trespassing.

Professional foster parents are also reimbursed for mileage costs to and from department-sponsored meetings.

Medical, dental and pharmaceutical expenses for foster children are paid by the state. Local residents interested in caring for Gordon or in learning more about the department's foster home programs are calling Pat at 876-8865.

State government aids 5 downtowns

Peter B. Fox, director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), has announced completion of a $400,000 downtown revitalization project that will bring an estimated 60 to 70 new jobs to Macomb.

The Macomb Dining Company restaurant opened its doors to the public this month. Macomb is one of five Illinois communities participating in the Illinois Main Street Program, sponsored by the department to assist in restoring economic health to ailing downtown areas. Others participating are Dundee, Mount Carroll, Quincy and Vanaluta.

The Main Street Program provides financial assistance, promotional services and consultation to these communities to help bring business back to their city centers.

Jay Matsin, who purchased and developed a building that long stood vacant in the downtown area, chose the Macomb site for his restaurant because of the promotional efforts of DCCA's Main Street campaign.

Fox said, "Main Street was designed to help Illinoisans revitalize their aging downtown areas so they can once again become thriving centers of local life. Macomb is an excellent example of how this program works."

Now 17 months old, the project has generated 133 new jobs, 33 new business locations and five business expansions in the downtown areas of these five cities.

In Dundee, the Main Street Program has been credited with two new firms and two expansions that created 20 jobs.

Vandalia has had three new stores locate in its downtown, despite the opening of a new shopping mall just outside of town, and Quincy has five renovation projects in the works and has had four new businesses open.

Mount Carroll was featured in a special edition of the Christian Science Monitor and received a national grant for historic preservation because of its work through the Main Street program.

"The knowledge gained by working in these five downtown areas will later be used to help towns across the state fight the battle of central city decay," Fox concluded.

Juveniles in break-in attempt

Two juveniles were taken into custody following an attempted break-in at the home of Mrs. Charles Wilson, 1835 Cleveland Blvd., who called police upon hearing knocking at the front door and a crashing sound at an upstairs window.

An officer arrived at the scene within 30 seconds of the dispatcher's call at 9:26 p.m. Tuesday and said a youth was standing on a first story roof, adjacent to a window on the second floor.

Upon seeing the officer approach, the youth jumped to the ground, ran across an alley toward Benton Street and escaped.

A second youth, later found to be 12 years old, also ran from the scene and tried to hide by lying down and covering his face. He was discovered near a cyclone fence in the rear yard of a dwelling in the 1900 block of Benton.

The older youth, 16, was identified and taken into custody a short time later. Officers found wooden casement window was open on the second floor of the Wilson residence and that the screening had been pushed in.

The parents of both juveniles met with detectives.

BURGLARS STEAL

CASH, RANSACK

In a burglary at the home of Paula Smith, 2117 State St., reported last week, the intruders ransacked the bedrooms, throwing the contents of dresser drawers on the floor and bed.

Costume jewelry had been placed on the bed and $207 cash was missing. Entry was gained by breaking a glass pane and reaching inside to unlock a rear door.

State recession to January

By STEVE HAHN

SPRINGFIELD — The earliest the state's economy can be expected to begin recovering from the national recession is next January, the head of the Illinois Economic and Fiscal Commission said recently.

However, Marshall Langberg predicted the nation's economy as a whole will begin to move forward during the quarter that began on July 1.

He told a commission meeting that once the national recession begins to ease, the real question for Illinois will be whether or not that recovery is sustained.

If high interest rates cause the national recovery to be short-lived, he predicted Illinois' economy will get much worse.

The state's economy generally takes six to nine months longer to recover from a slow-down than does the national economy, he said. One of the main reasons for the lag is the state's reliance on the production of durable goods and its heavy industrial base.

A report the commission released in June showed manufacturing, retail and wholesale trade, and service employment account for 65 percent of the state's economy and 68 percent of the state's non-agricultural employment base.

During the past decade service employment expanded 66.5 percent nationally and 43.3 percent statewide. In the same period, national retail and wholesale trade employment grew 41 percent compared to 20.3 percent in Illinois.

Between 1977 and 1981, the report says, current dollar retail sales expanded 24.4 percent in Illinois. Nationally, they grew 43.2 percent.

Langberg said a key element in a long-term national economic recovery — and ultimately an Illinois recovery — is a reduction in interest rates. If that fails, the recovery where business begins to incur new long-term debt, real economic growth will follow, he said.

He said the Gross National Product is expected to grow three to four percent during the current quarter, compared with declines during the past three quarters.

A recovery is expected during the current quarter because most economists expect consumers to spend the money they have received from the 10 percent federal income tax cut, which took place July 1.

In Illinois, however, the benefits of the tax cut will be less noticeable than in other parts of the country, Langberg said. The main reason is the state's high unemployment rate, which was 11 percent in May. The national average for that month was 9.5 percent.

"All forecasts of recovery assume consumer spending will pull the nation out of recession," the commission report says. "There is a significant down-side risk, however, that the tax cut will not generate the kind of economic activity necessary for recovery.

"Given the unstable employment situation, consumers may choose to save the tax cut or use it to liquidate current debt. Such behavior would stifle recovery," Langberg said.

Langberg said a faltering national recovery could have serious consequences for state government. Instead of predicting that revenues will be $145 million less than the current rate of spending proposed by Gov. James Thompson, he said state income could be $225 million to $285 million less than proposed expenditures.

He cautioned, however, such a serious reduction in expected revenues does not mean the state would be bankrupt. The administration can reduce appropriations to conform with reduced receipts.

The effect of the difference between the commission's revenue estimate and the administration's seen in the expected general revenue fund balance at the end of fiscal 1983. The administration says the balance will be $180 million, while the commission predicts the figure will be closer to $55 million.

Langberg said administration officials recently announced in a state bond prospectus that revenues this fiscal year will be $66 million less than predicted by the Bureau of the Budget.

The prospectus said spending has been reduced by an equal amount.

Richard Kolhauser, the bureau's deputy director, said much of the reduced spending has come from the Department of Public Aid.

Kolhauser also defended the administration's level of spending this year, which is about $47 million more than receipts.

The state began the fiscal year with a $197 million general revenue fund balance and both the bureau and the commission expect it to end the year with a balance of about $150 million.

In a related matter, Langberg said state "circuit breaker" payments to senior citizens and the handicapped have come to $66 million so far this year compared with $93 million paid out at the same time last year. About $106 million was appropriated for the grants during both fiscal years.

Some Democrats have suggested the payments are down because the administration is deliberately delaying them. Both Kolhauser and a spokesman for the Department of Revenue, however, denied that allegation.

Spokesman Helen Adorian said some payments have been delayed because of complications with a computer program, but also because applications for the funds have been coming to the department at a slower pace than they did last year.

As of June 30, he said, about 418,000 people had applied for the funds compared with about 438,000 who had applied by the same time last year.

YOUTHS TAMPER WITH RAIL FREIGHT
After receiving reports of three youths tampering with farm equipment on freight cars parked on the Norfolk and Western Railroad siding near the 100 block of Wilson Park Lane, officers found the valve stems on two large tractor tires had been removed and the tires were deflated.

The vandals also had entered the tractor cab, removed the owners' manuals and left the papers on the bed of the railway car. It was not immediately determined if anything was stolen.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

- 1—Check specials in food store advertisements.
- 2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- 3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- 4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- 5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.
- 6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- 7—By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- 8—Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- 9—Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- 10—Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnucks' grocer.

Dialogues here will stress church understanding

Nona Corzilius, president of Church Women United in the Quad-City area, has announced plans for a six-week series of informal, interdenominational, small group dialogues to be held on Tuesdays at 1 p.m. beginning July 13.

Purposes are to learn of the practices and symbols of various Christian denominations, to gain understanding and tolerance, and to deepen friendships as women meet together as "children of the Christian faith."

Invitations from six area churches have been accepted to hold the dialogues, with several others offering a tour of their churches with a priest or pastor in attendance to explain symbols and practices. The tours will take place at noon on the day of the dialogue.

It was explained that "a dialogue is not a debate where points are scored and one side wins. Those who participate seek not to convert or persuade or instruct, but simply to get to know each other well—and to understand and accept one another in the fullness of any differences. In a successful dialogue, a great deal is learned not only through exchange of information but through the growth of personal relationships," the CWU president said.

The six-week series will begin July 13 at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road.

In the weeks following, the group will tour St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church, 2300 Pontoon Road, with the dialogue at that church, First Church of Christ Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., with the dialogue following at Third Baptist Church, 26th Street and Grand Avenue.

Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, 1300 Grand Ave., Madison, with the dialogue at Bethel

AME Church, 1035 Market St., Venice; St. Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church, 1732 Maple St., with the dialogue at Niedringhaus Methodist, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue; and the final meeting at St. Peter's United Church of Christ, with a tour of that historic building preceding the dialogue.

The dialogues, as well as participation in Church Women United, are open to any Christian woman in the Quad-City area. The group hopes to have every denomination represented, it was noted. For further information, or to reserve a place, local women are contacting either Mrs. Corzilius at 876-8414 or Mrs. Marie Gordon at 452-1133.

Morris might be honored with SIUE building name

A proposal to change the name of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Morris Student Center has been forwarded by the Student Senate to university officials.

The change would honor Delyte W. Morris, who was president of the SIUE system from 1948 to 1970, and died April 10 at the age of 74. Deb Buer, Student Senate president and a junior from Granite City, said the proposal has started a controversy over whether the building should be a "university center" or a "student center." She said the controversy does not concern naming the building after Morris.

Senators presently are circulating petitions to draw support for the use of "student center." Miss Buer said the name change would imply more student control of the building, which contains lounges, a restaurant, a cafeteria, a ballroom, recreation areas and various student-oriented activity offices.

The bulk of the building's financing comes from student fees and Miss Buer said she believes students should have more control over money that is subsidized for the building's operation.

John Oxford, University Center assistant director, said students already have control by holding most of the seats on the University Center Board.

The proposal has been forwarded to the University Planning and Budget Council and could be presented to the Board of Trustees for final approval by September.

The bike path and mall at SIUE are named after Morris, as is the library at SIU at Carbondale. The only school official, however, to have a building bearing his name at SIUE is the late John S. Rendleman, the campus' first chancellor and a former president. The administration building is named after him.

A university policy prohibits buildings from being named after people who are living.

Gardeners busy in July

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Advisor

Gardening in July means harvesting many crops, caring for all growing crops and planting some fall vegetables.

It is still a busy month for gardeners and here are some of the expected happenings and tasks:

— Enjoy home-grown sweet corn. In general, the shorter the time intervals from field to table, the better the flavor.

— Early-season corn varieties are good, but not as good as the mid-season varieties yet to come. Home gardeners have time to make another planting or two for fall harvest.

— Sidereal long-season crops with nitrogen (33-0-0 or other formulations) at the rate of 1 pound per 100 feet of row. Keep the fertilizer off the foliage. Irrigate or cultivate immediately following the treatment.

— Cabbage is maturing and it will store in the garden for a week or two. Head splitting can be reduced by using a spade to cut roots on two sides of the plant. This reduces water uptake from rain or irrigation.

— Cabbage worms are most effectively controlled by using bacillus thuringiensis, a non-toxic bacterial spray sold as Dipel and Thuricide. Use according to directions on the package.

— Tomatoes may show early blight and blossom-end rot. Early blight is when the lower leaves show spotting, turn yellow and drop off; spray or dust with tomato fungicides. Blossom-end rot infections appear when ripening; mulching is the best control.

— Keep trees, plants and gardens watered as needed. Apply enough water to soak into the root zone rather than very light watering.

Remember, an inch of water normally moistens six inches of soil, and it takes 6 gallons of water per square foot to equal an inch of rain.

— Cucumbers will this year is generally from bacterial wilt. This disease is carried in the bodies of cucumber beetles and the plants are inoculated when the beetles feed on the cucumber plants. Kill the beetles before they feed by applications of carbaryl on a 5-day interval and the wilt will be prevented.

— Seed the fall garden crops of beans, broccoli, cabbage, spinach and turnips made late in the month.

— Harvest onions when the tops have fallen over. Begin the curing process by undercutting the bulbs and leaving them lay for 24 to 48 hours. Then tie in bundles of 10 to 15 onions and cure by hanging in a dry sheltered area.

— Harvest fruits for dessert and processing. Blackberries, blueberries, summer apples and plums make up the fruit list for the month.

— Spray black raspberry plants and sour cherry trees with a fungicide immediately after harvest to control late season fungus diseases.

— Keep weeds under control and don't allow them to make seed. Any weed that has formed seeds should be removed from the garden area.

Medical vials are offered to kidney patients

The National Kidney Foundation of Eastern Missouri and Metro East is offering free vials to all chronic kidney patients. The plastic vials are designed to give vital medical information to medical assistance personnel in emergency situations, particularly when the patient involved is unconscious.

The vials contain a form completed by the patient and listing conditions such as: dialysis patient, location of fistula or shunt, diabetic, etc., as well as the patient's private physician.

Vials are to be stored on the top shelf of the refrigerator. Paramedics and other emergency medical personnel are now being trained to look for the vials when responding to an emergency in the home.

Dr. Barbara Cole, director of pediatric dialysis, St. Louis Children's Hospital, says information contained in the vials "would prohibit trained medical personnel from giving intravenous fluids and medications which are potentially life-threatening to the patient with renal (kidney) failure."

The vials were provided by Alexian Brothers Hospital, 3933 South Broadway, Chronic kidney patients interested in obtaining a vial are calling 314-863-5858.

RULING DEFERRED
Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick has deferred judgment on Thomas Crim, 17, of 2920 N. Meade St., after listing 18 months probation and a fine of $228 plus $22 costs. A court case filed March 18 alleged Crim possessed between 30 and 489 grams of cannabis in Granite City.

Demonstrate tilling methods during Illinois State Fair

A conservation-tillage machinery demonstration will highlight the 1982 Farm Expo at the Illinois State Fair, Aug. 5 to 15 in Springfield.

John Deere, International, Allis Chalmers, White, Steiger and Versatile companies will show their wares at the expo located just south and east of the mile track. In addition to the major implement dealers, more than 90 equipment and short-line manufacturers will display their products.

The Farm Expo area will again provide fairgoers with an opportunity to see modern farm equipment, including combine harvesters, portable driers, bins, livestock and grain trailers.

As an added attraction, a 50-by-100-foot area of ground will be cleared to demonstrate the reduction of soil erosion via use of minimum-tillage farm tools.

This is the second year for a minimum-tillage exhibit at the fair, but because of the increased desire for information and applications on reducing erosion in the past year, this year's exhibit will accent on actual demonstrations of the machinery.

"If you could get a handle on the whole state, I think interest in minimum-till and no-till usage surpassed our hopes from last year," said Jim Sardoof of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, Division of Natural Resources.

Sardoof said there is now more interest in reducing soil erosion with conservation tillage of land than ever before. The Department of Agriculture is reflecting and encouraging that interest with the new Farm Expo demonstration area and a larger "mini-farm progress show" in October, Sardoof said.

The conservation-tillage demonstration will be located north of the poultry barn near the major implement display area. The exhibit features the demonstration of various tillage equipment about four times daily at the fair, Sardoof said. Included will be no-till planters, zip seeders, disc-chisels, no-till drills and no-till anhydrous applicators.

Although Case and Massey-Ferguson have shown here in the past, they have not confirmed that they will display at the fair this year.

Select local expert as Teenage Institute leader

By MARIE MCKINSEY
St. Elizabeth's

Medical Center
Della Kinsolving, clinical supervisor for Talbot Hall, St. Elizabeth's Medical Center's chemical dependency treatment center, has been chosen to serve as a faculty member for one of two sessions of the Illinois Teenage Institute on Substance Abuse being held this summer.

Miss Kinsolving says that she feels very fortunate to have been chosen as a faculty member for the second session, which will be from July 26 to 31. She says that, although faculty members are not paid for their services, the institute has a waiting list of qualified professionals eager to participate in the program.

The Illinois Teenage Institute is designed to bring together Illinois teenagers and professional resources to share information and examine alcohol and drug abuse and related life problems.

The main objective of the sessions is to provide teenagers with the training and encouragement to be able to return to their communities and individual schools and provide a positive influence on their peers in the prevention of drug and alcohol abuse.

The Illinois Teenage Institute was started in 1974 under the guidance of Michael Rainey, health educator with the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities. Originally patterned after a similar program in Ohio, the Illinois

Doctor's Forum Cholesterol and exercise

Q: My husband has been told that he has a high cholesterol level. How important is exercise both in lowering his cholesterol level and for improving his heart? He does indoor carpentry work, and insists that he gets plenty of exercise on the job. — J.F., Dothan, Ala.

A: If your husband has high cholesterol he should be seen by a specialist who can discern the type and cause of the abnormality. Then, he can undergo appropriate treatment. In some cases, high cholesterol is due to another disease, such as thyroid disease, liver disease, diabetes or others. It is important to rule out such diseases.

Next, if these conditions are shown not to be the cause of the high cholesterol level, then it may be possible to keep it under control with diet. Advice about dietary control of high cholesterol can be obtained from the American Heart Association, or specialists in nutrition.

In some severe cases of high cholesterol, it is necessary to resort to drug control. This must be handled by a knowledgeable physician.

Finally, exercise is good advice for several reasons. First, it helps to keep the heart strong in case of a heart attack. Second, it helps one lose weight (if overweight), and this may lower the cholesterol. And, third, it may cause an increase in high-density lipoproteins (HDL), which protect against heart disease.

Nevertheless, it should be pointed out that exercise is not the major factor in control of high cholesterol. It is a good idea in someone who is in good health otherwise, but it is not the best means of lowering cholesterol in the blood. Also, if there is evidence of heart disease already present, exercise should be done under care of a physician. — Dr. Scott Grundy, professor of medicine, at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Q: I am taking medication for hypertension and I take my own pressure at home. In the morning, my blood pressure is 180/90, and after a day of golf or exercise, it is 100/60. Is this normal? — L.B., San Luis Obispo, Calif.

A: Such variability in blood pressure is common. Recent studies of continuous 24-hour blood pressure monitoring indicate that almost all hypertensive patients have at least some variability or minute-to-minute, hour-to-hour changes in blood pressure.

Exercise may play a role in lowering blood pressure, especially active, dynamic exercise such as running or walking. However, not enough is yet known about exercise and blood pressure to recommend exercise as a routine treatment for hypertension. For example, some forms of isometric exercise, such as weight lifting, may raise blood pressure. — Dr. Daniel O'Connor, assistant professor of medicine, at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Questions should be mailed to the UCSD School of Medicine, Public Affairs Office, M-002, La Jolla, Ca. 92093. Detailed medical histories are not appropriate and individual diagnoses cannot be made. Send questions of general interest only.

DELLA KINSOLVING

Institute has become a model for a number of programs developed across the country.

A few openings are available for teenagers interested in this summer's session. Applicants should have overall good grades and not be a prior participant at the institute.

Institute representatives emphasize that the workshops are not intended to serve as therapy for individuals presently having emotional or physical problems resulting from alcohol or drug use.

Both institute sessions will be at 4-H Memorial Camp in Monticello, Ill. The first session is from July 19 to 24 and the second session will be July 26 to 31. Anyone interested in more information may call Ruth Cohen of AID (Aid and Information on Drugs) at 345-5200 or Della Kinsolving at Talbot Hall, 788-3069.

Memorials 32
WE WISH to express our sincere appreciation for all the acts of kindness and thoughtfulness shown to us during the illness and death of our husband and father, ARTHUR L. FLESTER. For the many beautiful floral offerings, memorial offerings, food sent to our homes and visits to the funeral chapel, we say thank you. Each meant so much to us. We especially want to thank Dr. Thomas Martin and the staff of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, especially the Intensive Care Unit, Randall Irwin and his staff, Dr. Bob Jones, Mrs. Jewell Everette, organist, Dwain Bridges, vocalist, pallbearers, and those ladies of Grace Baptist Church who prepared and served the meal following the funeral. — Veatrice Hester, Charles Hester and the Families of Betty Carbaugh and Lynn Hester. 32 7 8

IN MEMORY OF RALPH G. WELCH who passed away July 8, 1982. I often sit and think when I am alone, like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay, my love for him will never fade away. — Sadly missed by wife, Mamie Welch. 32 7 8

IN MEMORY OF PATRICIA (FERRELL) MYER, July 8, 1975 and MARIE FERRIS SCURLOCK, Aug. 25, 1980. The golden gates stood open, my love for him will never fade away. — Sadly missed by wife, Mamie Welch. 32 7 8

Precautions needed against Rocky Mountain spotted fever

Six cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever have been reported in Illinois so far this year. Two have occurred in Marion County and one each in Monroe, Williamson, DuPage and Will Counties.

According to William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, state health officials are especially concerned about the incidence of Rocky Mountain spotted fever occurring in residents of, and visitors to, all wooded and grassy areas where ticks may be abundant.

"The largest cluster of the disease we have seen recently has occurred over the past several years in just such an area, in the vicinity of Braidwood, on the Will County line," Kempiners said. "A total of 11 cases have been reported in that area since 1976."

Rocky Mountain spotted fever is a serious disease that is transmitted to humans by ticks which have fed on infected wild animals, such as rabbits, mice, chipmunks or squirrels.

Symptoms, which usually develop three to 14 days after the bite of an infected tick, include sudden onset of fever, muscle aches, headache and irritation of the eyes. Patients usually develop a rash on the hands, feet, arms and legs about three days after the symptoms begin.

Prompt medical attention is essential and it is important that the patient tell the physician about any recent tick bites. Certain antibiotics are very effective in treating Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Those persons who are planning to spend time this summer camping or hiking in areas that might be tick-infested can lessen the risk of contracting Rocky Mountain spotted fever by wearing long-sleeved clothing that fits tightly around the wrists and trousers that fit tightly around the ankles; wearing high boots, leggings or socks outside trouser legs; wearing a head covering, and using liberal amounts of tick repellent.

Any of the commonly available insect repellents which contain either diethyltoluamide or dimethylphthalate are effective against ticks. The label should be checked to determine whether the insect repellent is an effective tick repellent.

Campers, hikers and outdoor workers should check their bodies and clothing several times each day for the presence of ticks. Children should be examined every three to four hours, especially around the scalp and back of the neck. Ticks seldom attach at once and rarely transmit infection until they have been attached for several hours.

A tick should be removed from the body with a pair of tweezers, or with a piece of paper held between the fingers, by gently flipping the tick on its back, using its head as a fulcrum. Either of these methods of removal is preferable to using a lighted cigarette or hot match. Similar precautions should be used when removing ticks from pets.

Do not squash the tick; if it is infected, this could spread the disease. The best way to dispose of a tick is to flush it down the toilet or burn it in the campfire.

Anyone handling a tick should wash his or her hands thoroughly with soap and water. The wound should be cleansed with abundant amounts of soap and water. Any of the common skin antiseptic solutions should then be applied to the tick wound. All tick bites should be cleansed and treated as there is no way to distinguish the bite of an infected tick from a non-infected one.

Kempiners asked that physicians throughout Illinois report all cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever to the local or state health department.

Last year in Illinois, 14 cases of the disease occurred, but no deaths resulted from it. In 1980, there were 19 cases and three deaths. In 1979, there were 20 cases and two deaths; 36 cases and no deaths in 1978, and 31 cases and one death in 1977.

MAN ARRESTED

Jeff Perryman, 22, of 2645 E. 24th St., was charged with criminal damage to property and resisting arrest during the week-end after he refused to talk with officers at 20th Street and Washington Avenue. He was allegedly holding an open can of beer while sitting inside his car and, after getting out of the car, he held onto the right rear fender wall of the vehicle, police said.

As officers tried to get him into a police car, he continued to hold on the fender wall and cut his hand, police said. Inside the squad car, he allegedly broke the overhead inside trim and used obscene language. Perryman was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he refused treatment and taken back to the police station. Perryman agreed to go to the hospital at 7:25 a.m. the next day and was admitted by a physician.
